New Deal Scorns Compromise Talk On Draft Measure

Conscription Opponents Would Let Public Vote on Bill in November

Washington —(AP)— Administration leaders turned a cold shoulder today to talk of a compromise in the senate fight over conscription.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic floor leader, expressed the opinion to reporters that conscription and voluntary enlistments could not be linked successfully in such a system as that offered by Senator Maloney (D-Conn.), as a substitute for the Burke-Wadsworth bill.

Barkley also said he thought opponents of the conscription legislation would muster their maximum strength on compromise amendments. He predicted that if such compromise attempts failed fewer than 25 senators would vote against final passage of the bill.

Opposition senators, meanwhile, were reported to be discussing the possibility of a referendum vote on conscription at the November election. Some of these senators said they were confident that given a chance to express its opinion at the polls, the country would show a majority sentiment against the draft.

Maloney would require the registration of all men from 21 through 30, as would the Burke-Wadsworth bill, but he would delay the draft until Jan. 1 while voluntary enlistments were sought. If these enlistments did not fill the army's quota, conscription would be ordered.

2,900 Marines Sent to Cuba For Training

Quantico Brigade Off For Guantanamo Bay; Havana Accord Cited

Washington —(AP)— Amid far-reaching plans to strengthen United States defenses in the Caribbean sea, the navy is ordering 2,900 marines to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, for intensive training maneuvers.

The contingent—the first marine brigade of Quantico, Va.—would be in a position to reach central or South America quickly, should any trouble requiring their presence arise.

The navy already has undertaken conversion of four fast American ships into "destroyer transports" so that the brigade could be moved swiftly.

The action comes shortly after the adoption at the Havana Pan-American conference of a resolution expressing opposition to the transfer to other non-American nations of foreign possessions in this hemisphere. The conference voted to let one or more of the American republics establish a provisional administration over any possession affected.

Transfer of the Quantico brigade, navy officials said, is "for the purpose of preliminary training of this force in view of extensive maneuvers planned during the winter in the Caribbean area."

The maneuvers—similar to those conducted each year—involve landings and other operations. Quantico provides a base from which ships may operate in carrying out one of the navy's missions; keeping any enemy aircraft carrier from getting within 1,000 miles of the Panama canal.

In other field of preparedness studies, the navy announced that Rear Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, assistant chief of naval operations, has been sent to the American embassy in London as a special naval observer.

A Couple Soldiers Get Into Trouble

Fond du Lac —(AP)— Two privates in the 61st coast artillery today were in trouble more serious than being AWOL from Camp McCoy, Wis. They were in jail, charged with operating four automobiles without the owners' consent.

Arraigned in municipal court, they waived preliminary hearing and were bound over to circuit court.

The defendants, George D. Shanks, 21, of Detroit, and Michael Swinoff, 22, of Fond du Lac, left the camp on Aug. 1 after having been sent there with their outfit from Fort Sheridan, Ill., for military maneuvers.

The state charged that the pair stole an automobile at LaCrosse, drove it to Sheboygan, stole a machine in the latter city and then drove both to Fond du Lac, where two more were stolen. Sheriffs officers found all four in a dense woods near the women's state reformatory at Taycheeda in a raid last night.

THEY PREFER JAIL TO RUSSIA—In halting English, these ten Estonians, shown in jail at Bangor, Me., explained that they preferred jail to being returned to their homeland which now is part of Russia. They were held by immigration authorities for illegal entry after they had fled their homeland as crew members of ships, jumped the ships in Canada and made their way to Maine.

10,000 are Homeless in Louisiana Rain Flood

Crowley, La. —(AP)— Boats were rushed by water, train and tractor today to this southwest Louisiana section where some 10,000 persons were made homeless by the greatest rain flood in the state's history. Precipitation totaled as much as 24 inches in 24 hours in some places.

A score of towns and communities were inundated, some without water, lights or sewer facilities, and many homes were reported to have drifted away. Rice, cotton and corn crops were heavily damaged, roads were blocked.

Crowley, rice capital of America, was in darkness last night and most of its business houses had several feet of water above the flooring. The sewerage and water systems were out of commission.

Other towns inundated or partially flooded included Lafayette, Rayne, Kaplan, Scott, Erath, Delcambre and Gueydan.

Governor Sam Jones made a radio appeal for boats and coordinated state federal and local relief work. Doctors, nurses and medical supplies were rushed in as reports of epidemic danger spread.

The Southern Pacific railway continued to operate as its roadbed is elevated throughout the section.

Refugees were being bunched in warehouses, business establishments and public buildings, most of them on upper floors. Business in the area was practically at a standstill.

The torrential rains followed a tropical hurricane which tore along the coast last Tuesday before going inland into Texas. The blow pushed tidal water far inland and aggravated the menace of rain. Only one fatality, a drowning, has been reported during the week.

The rain generally had stopped it falling today and it was believed the accumulated water would begin to subside.

Pickets Tough, Deflate Tires

Oil Company Reports Vandalism in Strike Of Cartage Employees

Montello, Wis. —(AP)— Violence flared yesterday in the strike of members of the cartage and commission employees union working as commission agents in the Milwaukee division of the Standard Oil company of Indiana.

Pickets stopped a company oil truck as it moved along Highway 51 two miles north of Endeavor, Carl E. Leahy, of Baraboo, and a companion, who were operating the truck, were forced to stand by. Sheriff William A. Wegner reported, while the pickets let the air out of the tires, damaged the tire valve stems and removed the service hose.

Leahy appealed to the sheriff and continued on his trip under protection of the sheriff's officers. Wegner said no arrests were made.

In Milwaukee, J. H. Budde, division manager, said that vandalism had occurred elsewhere. Several company men had reported that air had been let out of their truck tires, he said, and pipe lines at bulk stations had been stuffed.

Boycott Threat Is Carried Out

6 Mining Towns Act Against New St. Louis Ordinance on Smoke

St. Louis —(AP)— Six small southern Illinois mining towns today began a long-threatened boycott of St. Louis merchandise in protest against the city's new smoke elimination program.

C. G. Stiehl, president of the St. Clair-Madison coal operators' association, comprising 80 mine operators who claim they employ about 6,000 miners, announced at Belleville, Ill., that the boycott would be centered against St. Louis foodstuffs and newspapers.

The smoke ordinance—based on recommendations for ridding the city of the smoke nuisance in three years—requires the universal use of smokeless fuel or mechanical equipment that can burn raw coal without smoke.

It opened up a new market for Arkansas smokeless fuel and the recent shipment of several carloads of fuel from the southern state brought a loud protest from southern Illinois soft coal interests.

Population of the towns involved—Freeburg, New Athens, Coatsville, Tilden, Marissa and Lenzburg—is about 10,000.

Stiehl declared the boycott will be intensified and carried next to the Collinsville area north of Belleville, then to the Herrin territory farther south, in Perry, Williamson and Saline counties.

Johns Says Candidacy Backed by Union Head

Washington —(AP)— Representative Johns (R-Wis.) said today that his candidacy for reelection has been endorsed by George M. Harrison, grand president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Alameda representative also said that Representative Martin (R-Mass.) house minority leader, has written him this week thanking him for "loyal support" and wishing him success.

Wants to Collect

Milwaukee —(AP)— Gustav Collatz says he named Columbus' three ships correctly, but lost the quiz, contest anyway. Yesterday he filed suit against a local theatre to collect his prize.

Now there will be another quiz with lawyers asking the questions, witnesses answering them, and a real judge refereeing. A jury will bring in the answer.

Japan Creates Crisis in East

Demands Control of Sector Vacated by British in Withdrawal

Shanghai —(AP)— A demand that the British defense sector in Shanghai be transferred to Japanese control to meet "the actual situation" created by British troop withdrawals was voiced today by the newspaper Tairuku Shimpo, regarded as the mouthpiece of the Japanese army in China.

Declaring that Britain had been forced to make "sweeping changes" in her far eastern policy, the paper said:

"No matter on what grounds the British withdrawal is based, there is no doubt that the British have accepted Japan's demands for withdrawal of armed forces of European belligerents from Japanese-occupied areas in China."

Strained Japanese-British relations appeared eased by the British withdrawal, but Chinese quarters found fresh cause for anxiety in reports of threatening Japanese troop concentrations along the French Indo-China border.

At Chungking, the central daily news, official organ of the Chinese government, warned that China would take "adequate steps to back French Indo-China with force" if that colony's territorial or political integrity should be menaced.

Unofficial sources said that China's Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek already had moved some of his best divisions toward the Indo-China border.

Reports from Hongkong said that Japanese warships and transports were arriving daily at Waichow, Hainan and other bases near Indo-China.

5 Persons Killed In Kentucky Crash

Elizabethtown, Ky. —(AP)— Five persons were killed and four others injured today in a head-on collision of two automobiles two miles north of here.

Three of the dead were identified as Carl Thomas Miller, 23, and Edward Ray Gardner, 26, both of Magnolia and Walter Polley, 27, Hodgenville. They were occupants of the same automobile.

The bodies of two women were not yet identified.

Another woman and three men were taken to Louisville hospitals, where their conditions were not considered serious.

Denmark Exports to Take Sharp Nose Dive

Copenhagen, Denmark —(AP)— (Via Berlin)—A drastic curtailment of Denmark's exports of foodstuffs due to war stoppage of her fodder imports was foreshadowed today in a report of the agricultural council.

The council estimated that butter exports would drop by 100,000 tons, slaughtered pigs from 180,000 to 40,000 tons, eggs from 180,000,000 to 21,000,000.

Exports of live pigs will decline from 4,000,000 to 2,000,000, cattle from 3,300,000 to 2,800,000, and chickens from 12,000,000 to 7,000,000.

The report said Denmark must depend exclusively upon her own harvests to feed her livestock.

Woman Slain, Police Chief Shot in Oklahoma Gun Fights

Oilton, Okla. —(AP)— Two prison fugitives who hurled the shot-torn body of a woman clad in red from their speeding automobile, wounded Oilton's police chief and kidnapped a farmer, were held today as officers hunted a motive for the woman's death.

The gunmen, Bill Hall, 25, and Joe Lovelace, 24, surrendered to highway patrolmen west of here last night after a running gunfight. Hall had been shot five times.

Bill Glimp, of Drumright, the farmer-hostage, had a flesh wound in one leg. Patrolmen mistook him for one of the fugitives.

Sheriff L. L. Fisher said Lovelace declared the slain woman, whom he identified as Jeanne Culp, 30, Asher, Okla., was thrown from the car because "she seemed to be dead" and Hall complained that her body interfered with his driving.

As they drove through Oilton following a pistol-shotgun duel in which Police Chief Ben D. Clark was wounded critically, Lovelace said he noticed the woman was wounded badly. He contended, Fisher said, that he did not know who shot her, nor did he account for her presence in the car.

Clark and Constable C. L. Irwin, hunting three men who robbed an Oilton restaurant earlier in the day, halted a black sedan in which Hall, Lovelace, and the woman and a Negro were riding.

The officers leaped to the running boards. A point-blank shotgun charge knocked Clark to the pavement. Irwin emptied his pistol into the car and fell off as it sped away.

The body of the attractive red-haired young woman was found on a business street a short time later. Speeding southward over a country road, the gunmen took another car from Earl Williams, Oilton, later, near Drumright, they kidnapped Glimp and commandeered his 11-year-old automobile.

Forcing Glimp to replace the wounded Hall behind the wheel, the gunmen raced southward. As they crossed the Cimarron river bridge near Perkins, they were challenged by Highway Patrolmen John Boyd and J. R. Butler. After a short chase the car was stopped. Glimp darted out and was shot in the leg. The Negro had disappeared.

German Planes Bomb Arms Plant in Britain

Axis Pressure Forces Attacks on Rumanian Jews

Move Believed Salvage For Those Against Ceding of Territory

Bucharest, Rumania —(AP)— The government, forced by Axis desires to negotiate forthcoming territorial concessions to Bulgaria and Hungary, vented its wrath today on the Jews.

In placing new anti-Jewish laws into full effect, the government apparently was motivated by the fact that the most nationalistic Rumanian elements, which are opposing any territorial concession, also are the most anti-Semitic.

Taking their cue from Premier Ion Gurgiu's assertion that obedience to German-Italian wishes, while necessitating "painful sacrifices," "at least" would rid Rumania of "Jewish influence," the newspapers devoted many columns of anti-Jewish measures and resultant "benefits" to non-Jews.

Explanation of the laws thus was given far more space and prominence than the speech in which the premier said it was necessary for Rumania to give up part of her soil.

Political circles expressed belief the concession to the nationalist elements on the Jewish question would lessen their opposition to the territorial negotiations, and permit the government to yield some land without serious internal difficulties.

New Conference

Official circles said conferences with Bulgaria's representatives would begin this week-end in King Carol's country palace at Segarcea, a village near Craiova, where it was reported previously the negotiations would be conducted. Bulgaria claims southern Dobruja, taken by Rumania in 1913.

Negotiations with Hungary over her claims to Transylvania, acquired by Rumania after the World war, are to follow.

Police arrested scores of persons yesterday on charges of spreading false news and hustled them off to concentration camps. All the prisoners were identified with the liberal and democratic factions, and most of them were Jews.

Since the new anti-Jewish laws cut off most of Rumania's 755,000 Jews from public office, many professions and other fields, their jobs will be available to non-Jews, the newspapers pointed out.

The press also stressed the fact there will be many business opportunities for gentiles, since Jews are barred from engaging in many businesses.

James F. Hughes

J. F. Hughes Dies At Rochester

Former Congressman Was Active in State Democratic Circles

DePere —(AP)— Friends received word here today that James F. Hughes of DePere, former Wisconsin congressman from the eighth district, died yesterday at Rochester, Minn., following an operation. He was 57.

Hughes, long active in state Democratic party circles, was elected to congress from the Eighth district in 1932, but did not run for reelection in 1934.

He was a member of the Democratic State Central committee from 1920 to 1924, and was a delegate to the national conventions in 1920 and 1928. For 23 years he was a member of the DePere Board of Education.

Hughes was a native of Green Bay. He worked at Marinette as a shipping clerk in the early 1900's before coming to DePere.

Funeral services will be held at West DePere on Tuesday.

Belgium Envoy Starts for Home

London —(AP)— John Cudahy, United States ambassador to Belgium who created a sensation in London by advocating that the United States feed Nazi-occupied countries, left by plane for Lisbon today en route to the United States, to which he had been called to report to President Roosevelt.

London newspapers, which have been attacking Cudahy bitterly for the remarks he made in a recent interview, headlined the news of his recall and reprimand yesterday by the state department.

The Daily Mail today quoted Cudahy as saying "I do not retract one word from what I said."

He had said Belgium and other German-occupied territories now blockaded by the British navy would face famine this winter if they did not receive food from America. He also commented favorably on the conduct of the German army of occupation.

Farm Mother and 2 Children Fatally Burned in Explosion

Houghton, Mich. —(AP)— An explosion which resulted when fuel oil was poured on a fire in a kitchen stove brought death yesterday to a farm mother and her two young children, and serious burns to three others.

Fatally burned when the flaming oil ignited their clothing, were Mrs. Oscar Anttonen, resident of a farm 20 miles south of here, and her children, Kenneth, 2, and Doris, eight months old.

The children died soon after the explosion and subsequent fire razed the farm home. Mrs. Anttonen succumbed several hours later at a Hancock hospital.

The three seriously burned were Shirley Anttonen, sister of the two children who died, and Mrs. Peter Anttonen and Miss Helen Tokka, sister-in-law and sister, respectively, of the dead woman.

French Restrict Use Of Alcoholic Drinks

Vichy, France —(AP)— The new French government is determined to do something to restrict the use of alcohol, but will not "make the same mistake the United States made through total prohibition," the French press declared today.

The newspapers said manufacturers would be permitted to continue making wines, cider, beer and alcohol distilled from hops and grape juices. Both economic and health reasons influenced action against hard liquor.

Nazis Resume 'Blitz' Raids On England

Berlin —(AP)— The great British munitions works at Faversham, the Pobjoy Aircraft works at Rochester, and government shipyards at Sheerness and Chatham on the Thames were bombed, the high command announced today, in a resumption of large-scale raids on England.

Great fires and explosions resulted from attacks yesterday at Faversham and at Rochester, in Kent, the high command said, while "a great number of bombs of all calibres" hit the two shipyards in Kent where Britain repairs damage done to her ships.

Great damage also was done to the docks of England's big east coast seaport at Newcastle, the high command added, and a runway of the airport at Bristol, in the south-east, was reported destroyed.

The sinking by submarine of another ship of 8,700 tons was claimed.

Totalling their own victories in defense against air attacks, the Germans said 1,500 "enemy" planes had been brought down by anti-aircraft fire since the start of the war. Two British planes were shot down yesterday.

But it was admitted that in yesterday's British raids some civilians had been injured and buildings damaged in German territory.

Have Enough Food

The Nazi press took a rosy view today of Germany's winter food prospects, but was less sanguine about occupied lands, over which it said Germany could not be expected to be too greatly concerned.

The papers said an adequate food supply for Germany is assured, and that even the Balkan crops, "while not record breakers," are more than sufficient to feed the southeast.

While emphasizing Germany's food prospects, the German papers frankly were not optimistic about the occupied countries, particularly the low countries and France, which they said were being pinched by the British blockade.

In a sarcastic reference to the British playwright and actor, Noel Coward, DNB, official German news agency, quoted him as saying to the United States:

"For God's sake don't, because of impulse dictated by soft hearts, feed the starving continent, because if you nourish Adolf Hitler's victims you nourish Germany."

"That lets the cat out of the bag," said DNB. "Dutchmen, Belgians, Frenchmen and Poles now must starve for England after having failed to win the war for England—but the blame would be shoved onto Germany."

Whistling Bombs

London —(AP)— German bombers, power-diving at 400 miles an hour, unloaded explosives in mass attacks today on British ships protected by balloon barrages and rained whistling bombs on coastal Britain in heavy "terror" raids.

The Germans attacking the balloon-protected ships off the south-east coast were reported to have

Inspects Sea, Land Defenses

Portsmouth, N. H. —(AP)— President Roosevelt began a weekend inspection of New England sea and land defenses today by observing conditions at the Portsmouth navy yard where five submarines costing $27,500,000 were being built and plans for several others were being drafted.

Accompanied by Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, the chief executive arrived by train from Hyde Park, N. Y., and went immediately to the yard. Francis P. Murphy, Republican governor of New Hampshire, joined the presidential party at the railroad station.

New Hampshire and Maine state police combined with secret service men in closely guarding the president as he was driven under a scorching sun to the yard over a route from which traffic had been cleared.

The commandant of the yard, Rear Admiral John D. Wainwright, also joined the president at the station and rode with him to the base.

Within an hour of his arrival at the yard the president boarded the White House yacht Potomac and headed for the Boston navy yard.

Crossing the Piscataqua river bridge to Dennett's Island, on which the Portsmouth yard is situated, Mr. Roosevelt heard a 21-gun salute break the quiet of the morning.

Driving about the plant, the president saw where facilities were being expended as rapidly as possible to expedite submarine construction.

Willkie Cold to Advance Ties On U. S. Policy

Says Unnamed Persons Urging Him to Make 'Certain Commitments'

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY

Colorado Springs, Colo.—(P)—The Republican nominee, Wendell L. Willkie, wants no "advance commitments and understandings" with the Democratic administration regarding foreign policy, and claims "an unhampered right of public discussion" of such policy.

"The chief executive and cabinet must bear their appropriate responsibilities and the candidate for the presidency of the United States should reserve to himself an unhampered right of public discussion," Willkie said in a statement.

The nominee issued the statement late yesterday after telling his press conference that unnamed persons had approached him recently with suggestions "that I enter into certain commitments on specific proposals concerning the foreign policy of the United States provided the administration would take certain positions thereon."

Some of the persons, Willkie said, stated "they did not represent the administration, while others left their status in doubt."

"First of all," Willkie said, "my general views on the foreign policy and the vital interests of the United States in the present international situation are well known."

"As to specific executive or legislative proposals, I do not think it appropriate for me to enter into advance commitments and understandings."

Willkie added that if any responsible administration spokesman wanted to take a public position on foreign policy Willkie might "on appropriate occasions, comment thereon." He previously expressed willingness to reply to President Roosevelt on any question the chief executive might ask him.

U. S. to Establish 'Listening Post' In French Africa

Washington—(P)—The state department disclosed today that it was establishing diplomatic listening posts at Dakar, French West Africa, nearest point in Africa to South America, and at St. Pierre-Miquelon, French insular possession off the coast of Canada.

An announcement of changes ordered recently in the American foreign service revealed that the American consulate at Dakar, closed in 1931 as part of an economy drive, would be re-opened shortly.

Dakar is the hopping off place for France's transatlantic air service, now dormant, is operating.

The state department disclosed also that the consulate at St. Pierre-Miquelon, which is south of Newfoundland, also would be reopened.

This consulate was closed in January this year for lack of business. Back in prohibition days it had watched ship movements to detect rum runners.

Regarding the decision to re-establish the consulate at Dakar, officials said the state department had been handicapped greatly on the west coast of Africa ever since the consulate was closed. There was no office within a thousand miles of Dakar, they said, and "the time seems to have arrived when we should have representation there."

Former Mayor's Son Indicted in Racket

Detroit—(P)—Richard W. Reading, Jr., son of a former Detroit mayor, indicted with him on charges of conspiracy to protect the city's handbook racket, surrendered today to the grand jury which has been investigating gambling and graft in Wayne county.

He had been sought as a witness for weeks before his indictment, with 155 others, last Tuesday.

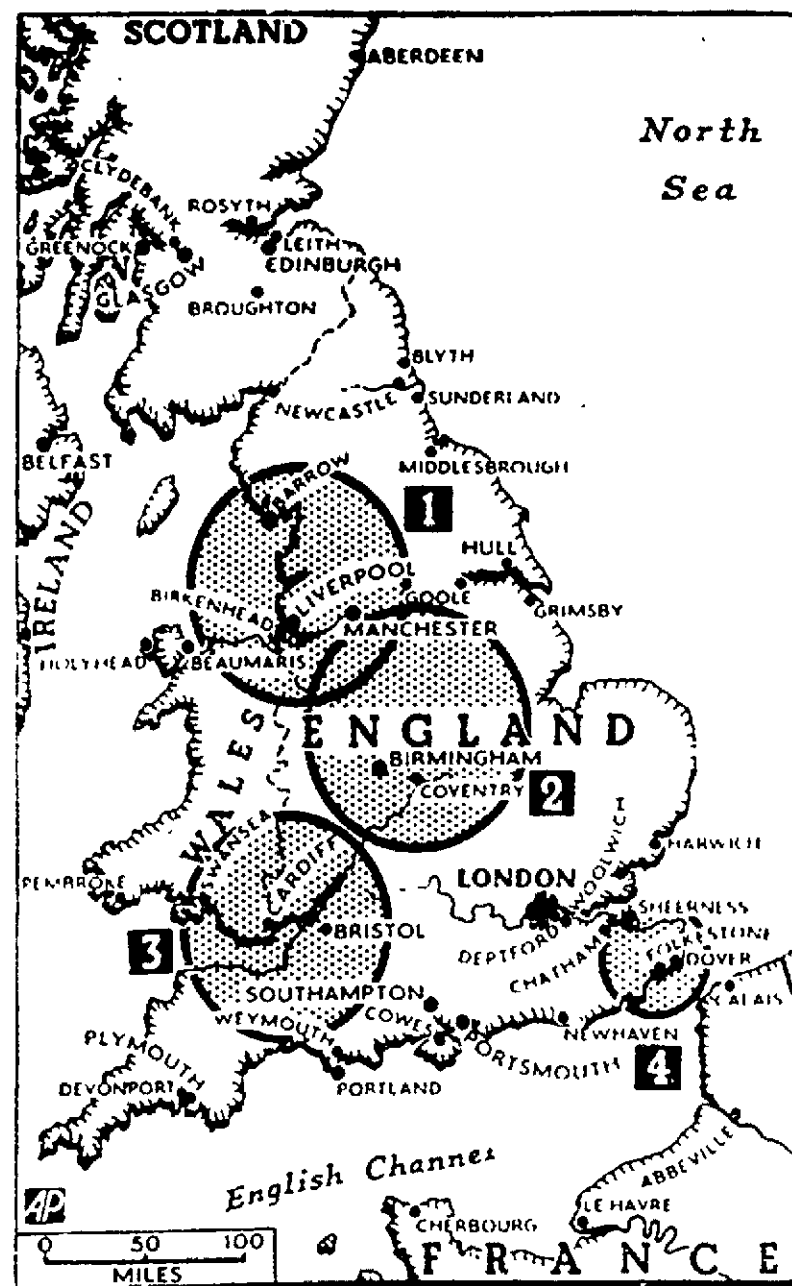

Circuit Judge Homer Ferguson indicted police to list 23 of the indicted persons as fugitives today. The group included Abe and Joe Burnside and T. J. Ryan, sought as owners of a telephone service for handbooks.

WHERE BOMBS FALL ON ENGLAND—Shaded circles on this Associated Press map showing districts in which major British industries are located are the areas reported most frequently bombed by Nazi fliers. English sources admit damage and casualties have been inflicted in northwest England (1), the Midlands (2), Bristol channel (3) and the Strait of Dover (4). In the wholesale German aerial assault on Great Britain, the British claim that at least 60 German planes were lost while Britain lost 16.

War Situation Today

Belligerents Concentrate On Punishing Air Attacks

Belligerent powers settled down today to a punishing war of air power. The United Kingdom, the European continent and Africa felt and heard the crash of bombs, the thunder of anti-aircraft fire and chattering of machine gun fire in growing volume.

Italy claimed further gains in her land drive into British Somaliland and all the belligerents issued communiques telling of aerial exploits. The Germans said:

Their methodical bombers, working "on schedule," blasted British airplane and munitions plants, causing great fires and explosions, destroyed an airport runway north of Bristol and blasted shipyards; German anti-aircraft batteries brought down two British planes, bringing their total bag for the war to 1,500 "enemy" planes.

The Italians said:

Their columns, pushing into Somaliland, have passed Addis, east of Hargeisa; their planes bombed Berbera, main seaport of British Somaliland; their warplanes hit British objectives along the Egyptian coast; British battleship Resolution and a destroyer were damaged seriously by bombs August 1.

The British said:

Their aircraft bombed an Italian vessel in Tobruk harbor, Libya, setting it afire; French pilots cooperated in reconnaissance and the R.A.F. bombers struck at positions the Italians had set up near Hargeisa; British bombers made a successful, damaging raid on Massaua, Eritrea; the British South African air force blew up two Italian bombers and damaged two others at the Italian airdrome at Neghelli, Ethiopia.

Ready For Long War

Germany, serving notice she is prepared as well for a long war as for a blitzkrieg, announced through press and radio that her own food supplies and those of the Balkan states are ample to last the winter, and that the fate of the people in countries she has occupied is no great concern of hers.

"There appeared to be at least one ally in the Nazi optimism, however, declared Russia's grab of Bessarabia and northern Bucovina had deprived Rumania of crops that would have been sufficient to fill Germany's import needs.

At the same time Rumania, preparing to make axis-demanded territorial concessions to Hungary and Bulgaria, sought to smooth the way with a new series of anti-Jewish measures.

With the war of aerial bombardment, argument and political maneuvering involving at least three continents, Egypt prepared to change from passive alliance with Britain to active military cooperation with the outnumbered British forces in Africa.

The press issued warnings against Italian propaganda while the armed forces stood ready to swing into action the moment Italian troops in Libya launch their anticipated drive into the land of the Pharaohs.

China promised to help Indo-China if Japan undermined that semi-occupied colony of France.

O'Konsky Would End Road Fund Diversion

Rudolph—(P)—Describing diversion of highway funds as "improper as using grocery money for the movies," Alvin E. O'Konsky, candidate for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, last night urged adoption of a constitutional amendment to halt the practice.

"In the past 10 years almost $35,000,000 paid by Wisconsin motorists was used for purposes out of which the motorist gained nothing for his money," O'Konsky said. "This amount would have built more than 1,000 miles of good concrete highways in places badly needed."

Jim Farley Is Appointed to Beverage Job

Named Chairman of Export Corporation Of Coca-Cola Company

Wilmington, Del.—(P)—James A. Farley, retiring postmaster general and Democratic national chairman, today was appointed chairman of the Coca-Cola export corporation.

Robert W. Woodruff, chairman of the Coca-Cola company's board of directors, announced Farley had accepted a position "in charge of all export business and particularly of the expansion of our business in foreign countries."

Farley's resignation as Democratic chairman becomes effective Aug. 17 and he leaves the cabinet Aug. 31.

Woodruff indicated the retiring postmaster general would report here after a vacation and said his headquarters would be in Wilmington.

A company spokesman said Farley has been "acquainted for years" with Woodruff and that his appointment changes discussion between the two "over a considerable period."

It is up to Farley, the spokesman added, to say whether he will disclose his salary and when he will start his new job.

Reports have been current that the retiring Democratic leader, who bowed out of politics after his party's recent national convention, would head a syndicate to purchase the New York Yankees American league baseball club.

A Coca-Cola company official said he did not believe Farley's position as head foreign salesman for the soft drink would interfere with any plans he might have about the baseball team. He added, however, that Farley must make this decision himself.

In New York, a close friend of Farley said the postmaster general's new position with the Coca-Cola corporation in no way would interfere with his negotiations to buy the New York Yankee baseball property.

Air Hostess Is Back Home After Accident

New York—(P)—Pale and apparently weak, 24-year-old Rosemary Griffith, American Airlines stewardess who said an unknown assailant knocked her unconscious during a flight Wednesday to Nashville, Tenn., returned today to New York.

She was helped from a sleeper plane into a waiting taxicab, which sped away, presumably to her Flushing home. Efforts to talk with her were unavailing. A spokesman for the American Airlines said: "The case is closed. The girl will go back to routine trips."

Previously, she had repeated at Nashville her story of being felled by a blow from behind by a man who demanded the key to a mail compartment—a key Miss Griffith swallowed before losing consciousness. Since she has been in a Nashville hospital.

Eberlein Tells Farmers He Saved Them Money

Park Falls, Wis.—Michael G. Eberlein told a political meeting here last night that Wisconsin farmers would remember "the fight Michael G. Eberlein put up to obtain a farm truck license for farmers that was worth something."

Eberlein is a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States senator. Speaking in the third person, the candidate asserted: "Singlehanded he fought Theodore Dammann (former secretary of state) and obtained from Judge Reis a peremptory writ of mandamus compelling the issuance to farmers of truck licenses for $5, permitting the hauling upon trucks weighing less than 4,000 pounds any weight load."

"The farmers were saved an estimated $500,000 a year through Michael G. Eberlein's efforts."

Milwaukeeans Named Frazer Verein Officers

Monroe—(P)—Delegates to the frazen verein convention, which closed today, re-elected the following officers of the organization: President, Helen Hags; vice-president, Louise Titting; secretary, Ella Shipper; treasurer, Anna Funking; guide, Emilie Budde; guard, Theresa Pohlhammer. All are from Milwaukee.

Police Chiefs Favor Black For Squad Cars, Poll Shows

Post-Crescent Madison bureau Madison—Police chiefs in most of the state's principal cities favor black squad as opposed to white vehicles in their force, a poll announced today by the state motor vehicle division discloses.

Colonel G. W. Rickman, commissioner, said that the poll was taken among all of the first, second and third class cities. Chief George T. Prim of Appleton participated.

Appleton now has two squad cars neither of which is white, the questionnaire disclosed.

In the 26 cities polled, there are 129 squad cars, only two of which are white and five gray. Milwaukee has 55 black cars.

The poll showed that, in the opinion of chief law enforcement officers of Wisconsin cities:

1. Only 6 per cent of the cars used are white or gray.

2. White cars, if used at all, should be limited to traffic regulation, not enforcement.

3. In the cities polled, there is one squad car for every 9,840 population.

Some chiefs, it was reported, while they use black cars exclusively, agree with the argument that white cars have a psychological value when employed and should be used to regulate motorists rather than to arrest them.

"White cars give a more secure feeling to residents, since they see them more often, but traffic violators are inclined to obey the law only when a white car is in sight," one chief commented. "Citizens frequently stop white cars to report emergencies or valuable information, thereby saving time and perhaps leading to arrests," another said.

It was also shown that a number of cities have adopted the use of three wheeled motorcycles to assure speedier checking of parking in order to conserve personnel. It is estimated that one officer can thus do the work of six men making the rounds on foot. There is a motorcycle or a squad car to every 5,000 population in the 26 largest Wisconsin communities, the poll showed.

While attending the sessions, Dean Waterman conducted the summer school chorus at vespers services Sunday.

Says Labor Experienced 'Wrath' of Administration

Milwaukee—(P)—Otto F. Christenson, candidate for the Progressive nomination for attorney general, declared here last night that labor experienced the "wrath" of the present state administration.

"No group in Wisconsin has felt the wrath of the present administration with such devastating force as did organized labor. All the important gains which labor achieved after years of heartbreaking struggle were wiped out during the 1939 session of the legislature," Christenson said.

County Receives Road Allotment From State

Outagamie county's 1940 allotment of $81,110.02 for the county trunk system has been received by the county highway department from the state treasury department, according to Arnold Krueger, highway commissioner.

The amount includes $60,076.99, representing the county's pro-rated share of the $3,500,000 allotted for county trunk systems in the state and $21,248.50, the amount computed at $65 for each mile of county trunk road in the county. From the total is deducted $215.47 spent by the state for dust prevention at cheese factories. The county must bear this cost.

Thousands to Seek Pension Jobs in State

Few Changes Expected As Result of Civil Service Examinations

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau) Madison—Thousands of persons are expected to apply for examination papers before the deadline, Sept. 4, for the civil service examinations scheduled by the state bureau of personnel for the hundreds of jobs in county pension departments.

A. J. Opstedal, acting chief of the state personnel department, reported today that he has completed arrangements for installing the merit system in county social security agencies in line with recent state and federal legislation, and that examinations will probably be given in the several county seats late in September.

Rules for the civil service order have been under negotiations for many months, with many county representatives insisting that local governments not be required to surrender their rights to home rule under the new legislation.

As a concession to such protests, the state order will not contain requirements for salaries, but will allow local administrative authorities to set salary scales for their local personnel.

All Employees Eligible

Under the order all local employees who held their jobs on Jan. 1 are eligible to compete in the examinations whatever their qualifications, although requirements of training and experience are provided for other prospective applicants.

Moreover, those present employees who get passing grades—70 or above—will be certified to the local employing agency without regard to their rank in the list of certified eligibles. Thus it is unlikely, according to state and county authorities, that the merit system examinations will remove any present pension agency employees from the courthouses of Wisconsin from their jobs. Principal effect of the order will be to control the employment of future personnel.

In general, the qualifications set up by the bureau of personnel follow those already in effect for state employment. Clerical qualifications follow the rules now effective in the state capital almost without change, while the qualifications for professional employees, including caseworkers and directors, follow the state examples without important alterations.

Hits at Pending Profits Levy

Charges Proposal Is Sugar Coating for Plan To Aid Arms Plants

Washington—(P)—Senator Clark (D-Mo.) charged at a tax hearing today that a pending excess profits levy was "sugar coating" for a plan to permit "munitions plants" to deduct defense expansion costs from their taxable earnings.

The expansion amortization plan and a tax of 25 to 40 per cent on excess profits have been combined into a simple piece of legislation on which senate and house committees started holding hearings yesterday.

Clark made his comment after John L. Sullivan, assistant treasury secretary, had told the joint committee that the tax proposed would yield a net increase of $190,000,000 in taxes the government collects on 1940 corporation income.

The treasury Sullivan explained, figured the direct yield would be $225,000,000 of which $35,000,000 would be offset by a loss in individual income taxes due to smaller dividends to stockholders. For the years after 1940, Sullivan said, the treasury estimated the excess profits tax net yield would be $400,000,000 to $480,000,000.

"When the president proposes spending four or five billion dollars every time he gets back from a weekend," Clark said to Sullivan, "$190,000,000 is a drop in the bucket, isn't it?"

Sullivan said it was "small item" in the total budget picture.

Clark then declared that the tax was "sugar-coating to get the public to swallow the amortization plan for munitions plants."

Sullivan replied that he did not believe that was true. The excess profits tax was under consideration before the amortization proposal was brought up, he said.

Celebration of City Birthday Gets Underway

Booyah to be Served Sunday at Restaurants, Along Banks of River

Kaukauna—Booyah and beer will be the order of the day tomorrow. Although the festivities of the homecoming and sesquicentennial celebration officially begin at 5 o'clock this afternoon, tomorrow as booyah day will be the actual beginning.

Booyah, which is a food dish thicker than soup but thinner than stew, will be served at all the restaurants and along the banks of the Fox river. The main place to buy it will be at the library park where there will be stands serving it from 10 o'clock in the morning till 10 o'clock at night.

The booyah is being sponsored by the Kaukauna Eagles, Aerie No. 1416, and the profits will be turned over to Father Flanagan's famed Boytown outside Omaha, Neb.

In addition to the booyah, there will be rides for the children on the merry-go-round, ferris wheel, and other ride machines.

Special Services
Also on the sesquicentennial program tomorrow will be services in the churches dealing with the 150th anniversary, and in the afternoon Kaukauna will be saluted by station WTMJ on that station's weekly tours of the state. The program will begin at 2 o'clock and last for a half hour.

Monday night will be the rally banquet at which Governor Julius P. Heil and Professor William F. Roney of Lawrence college will speak. The banquet will be held in the high school gymnasium at 6:30.

A basket picnic at which the old pioneers will meet the younger residents of the city will be held Tuesday afternoon and evening in La Follette park, beginning at 4 o'clock. The picnic is being sponsored by the Kaukauna Advancement association.

Tables will be furnished and coffee, cream, milk, pop, and ice cream will be sold at the park. Each family should bring its own picnic lunch.

Transportation will be furnished to the old settlers who plan to attend if they will call 385, the sesquicentennial office.

Fiddlers' Contest
Featuring the basket picnic will be the old time fiddlers' contest and several selections by what is left of the once famous Mills-Nugent band. Mel Raught will be on hand to do his old time jig and Henry McDaniels and Bill Rohan will be present with their fiddles. Indispensable to the picnic will be a barbershop quartet.

There will be special prizes for the largest family, the family coming the greatest distance, and the best historical picture. Everyone who attends will be asked to register with the NYA girls as special prizes will be awarded during the evening.

Wednesday will begin the pageant "Kaukauna Kavalade" which will run through Sunday night. As a prelude to the pageant opening Wednesday, there will be the crowning of the queen. The queen will reign over the pageant each night and at the various events in the homecoming celebration.

On Saturday evening the sesquicentennial ball will be staged at the Nitegale ballroom. It will be an affair for both the young and old, with both modern and old time music. The committee extends a special invitation to all the older people and all those over 65 will be admitted without charge. Prizes will be given the oldest couple and another for the oldest couple coming the longest distance.

The committee is planning to furnish transportation to and from the ballroom.

The sesquicentennial parade will be the main feature of the concluding day, Sunday, August 18. The march will begin at 4 o'clock and will be one of the longest and most elaborate parades in the history of the city, the committee feels.

That Sunday also will be Railroaders' day and the old railroad men who worked in the shops here will be returning to meet their old cronies.

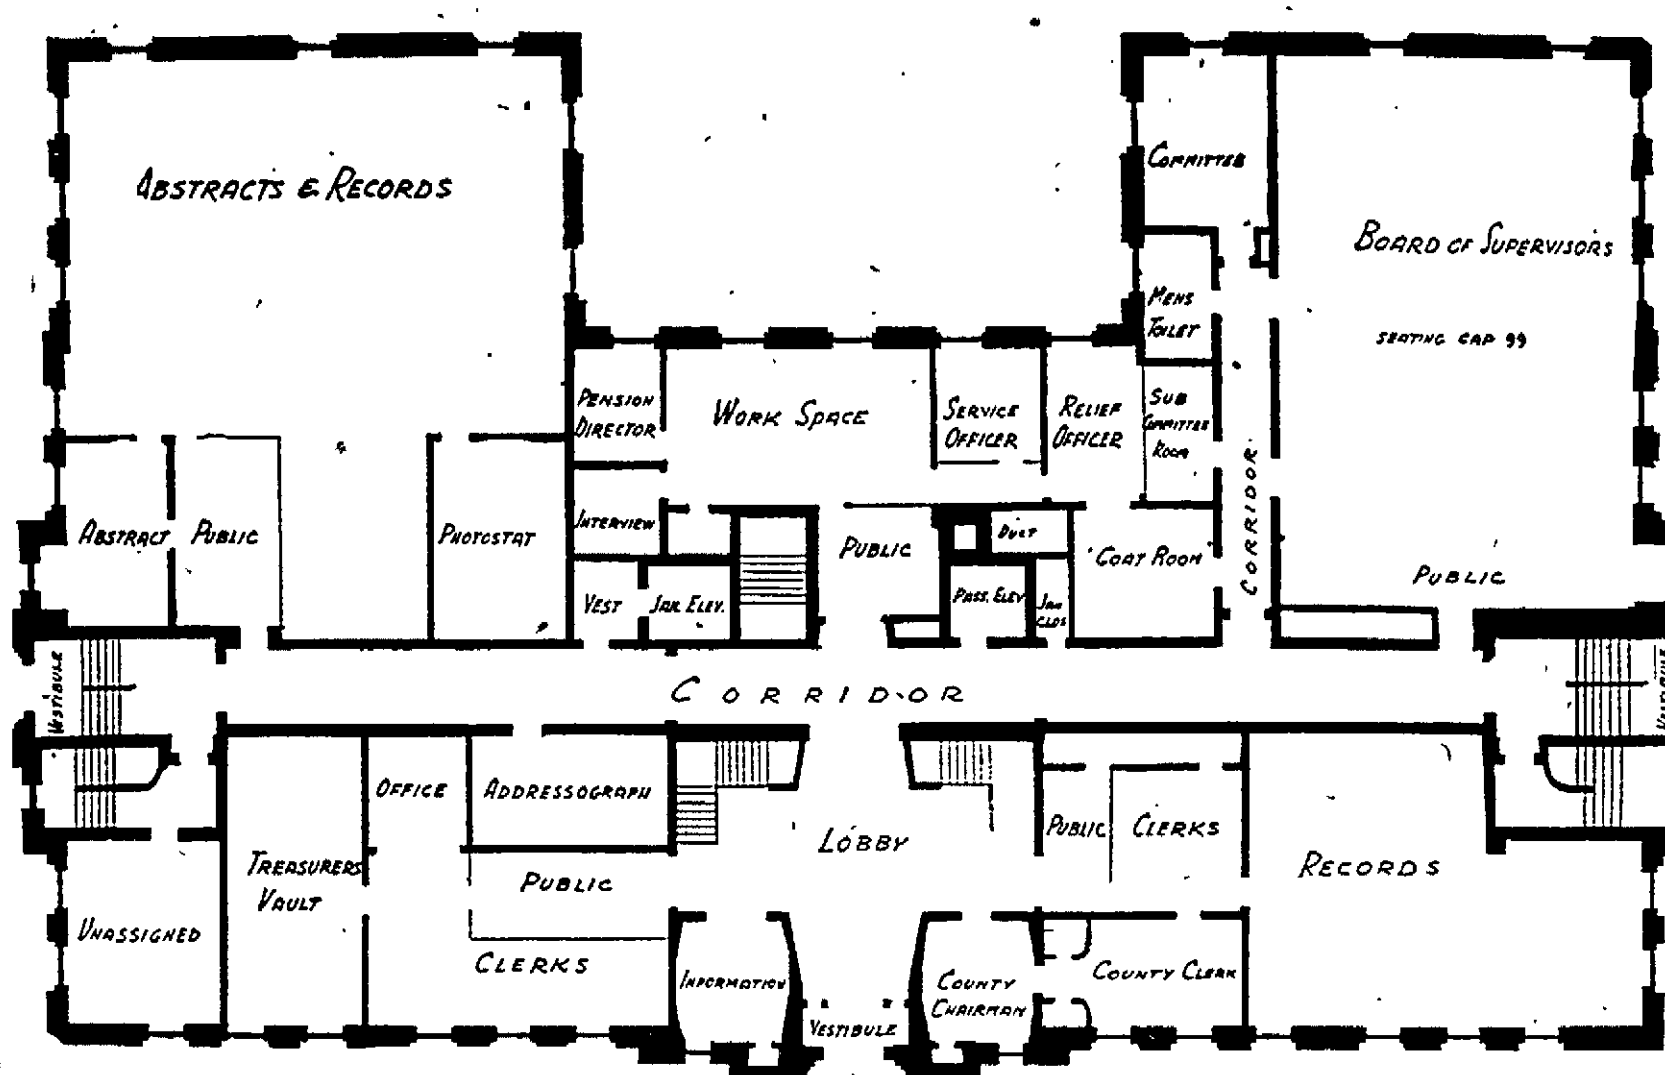

Throughout the entire week of the sesquicentennial celebration, there will be tours through the Grignon home, rides on the Fox river, and open house in the industries here. The historical museum in the municipal building will be open all day and in the evenings for those desiring to view the historical items on display there.

Valley Cities To Join Parade

Appleton Expected to Send Band, 10 Floats To Sesquicentennial

Kaukauna—Cities from all over the Fox River valley have indicated they will participate in the sesquicentennial parade on Sunday, August 18. Reuben Rosenblatt, parade chairman, announced yesterday.

He singled out Appleton as co-operating greatly in the parade by planning to send a band and about 10 floats.

Bands for the parade will be present from Appleton, Kimberly, Combined Locks, Chilton, Little Chute, and Menasha. Kimberly will have its city band and high school band taking part and the band from Chilton will total over 60 pieces, the parade chairman said.

Six prizes will be awarded to the best floats and six more prizes for the best bands in the parade, he added. Several of the city governments are planning to enter floats, and the mayors and city officials of several will participate in the parade.

The parade will begin at Tourist park and march down Wisconsin avenue to Lawe street where it will turn left and march across the bridge until Second street where it will turn left and proceed until Dodge street where it will march to the left until Island street where it will disband. The length of the parade route is about a mile and a half, Mr. Rosenblatt stated.

Pageant Group Makes Tour of Two Counties

Kaukauna—Ten members of the pageant cast, and 12 musicians from Kaukauna High school band led by Thomas Nolan, assistant chairman of the sesquicentennial celebration, made a booster trip through cities in Calumet and Outagamie counties today.

Issues Clearing as Debate On Draft Plan Gets Underway

Editor's note: The daily column by General Hugh S. Johnson is being substituted for Raymond Clapper's column while Mr. Clapper is on vacation.

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

New York—As the debate on conscription gets started, the issues are clearing a little. It seems that there is almost no resistance to "registration." Backs only begin to arch at the idea of "compulsory" service and then apparently only until experience has shown that a sufficient number of men won't volunteer. As proof that a sufficient number will be cited the recent rise in volunteering enlistment. It is also said that 1,300,000 volunteered in all services during the World war.

The latter is a highly misleading figure. It includes all men who were in the army and navy on long-term enlistment at the beginning of the war. It includes also men who were drafted into federal service in solid blocks.

In the World war there was a great boom in voluntary enlistment as soon as it became clear that the draft was going into effect. There was also a rise in enlistments in the Civil war after President Lincoln decided on the draft. In neither case, however, was the draft-induced rise enough to meet the nation's demand for men. In my opinion it will not do so today.

This lag in enlistment is no indication of slackerism—especially in a nation apparently committed to the principle, at least, of selective service, which holds that each man shall serve in that place in which it shall best serve the common good for his country to call him. Under such a principle, there is substantial ground for saying that a good citizen ought to wait until the government itself tells him its wishes. I vividly recall that in 1917 some farm areas implored us to get on with the selection to prevent spoilage of that year's short wheat harvest through loss of harvest hands who needed to be told that the government needed them with the threshers rather than with the troops just then.

Those who, for the present, oppose "selection" but approve "registration" ought to define their terms more accurately. Registration is a necessary first step but, standing alone, it is of no value. It is just a census of bulk raw resource in manpower. It gives no indication whatever of who in the common interest ought to stay at home and who ought to train for service. The essential step is the second one. It is called "classification." That process decides who should be deferred.

Deferments shouldn't be on Registrants Request. Deferments from liability to immediate service should not, I think, be made at the request of the registrant. No man should be put in the position of asking to be relieved of the first duty of citizenship, except perhaps in the single case of pre-established conscientious objection to combat service. If the ground be the dependency of others, the dependents ought to make the claim. If it be essentially to an industrial or agricultural enterprise, the government or the employer ought to make it. If it be educational or professional engagement, the government or the affected institution ought to make it.

This "classification" or "selection" process is done by local boards of neighbors, serving at sacrifice, acting with exclusive jurisdiction except for a limited right of appeal to "district boards" and a far more limited right of appeal to the president. It is done by means of questionnaires submitted by registrants or those claiming deferment for them.

This is a ticklish point. In the World war, if a deferment was claimed, the questionnaire had to reveal every pertinent fact advanced to support it. If none was claimed, nobody had to answer any inquisitorial question. That principle should be preserved. One of the most cogent objections to selective service is the possible invasion of privacy. This discussion of the principles of selective service will be continued.

Deferments from liability to immediate service should not, I think, be made at the request of the registrant.

Greenwood and McCarty Are Pageant Narrators

Kaukauna—George Greenwood and Neil McCarty have been selected as narrators for the historical pageant, "Kaukauna Kavalade," to be presented at the high school athletic field Aug. 14-18. It was announced yesterday by Phillip Ramirez, pageant director.

The organizer for the pageant will be Ruth Wolf while the choir will be under the direction of Clarence Kriesa. The Kaukauna High school band will present a half-hour concert before the pageant each night.

Deferments from liability to immediate service should not, I think, be made at the request of the registrant.

Kaukauna—The Holy Cross C.Y.O. softball team last night nosed out Haas Hardware, 4 to 3, in the city league game at the ball park, keeping close on the heels of the league-leading Kaukauna Machine corporation team.

Schuman began the C.Y.O. scoring in the first inning and increased it in the third when he hit a home run to score Vanevenhoven ahead of him. Giordana scored the winning run in the sixth frame.

Hatchell and Koehne opened the scoring for the Haas Hardware in the first inning with Tatro getting the next and final run in the third.

Assessments Confirmed as Council Meets

Street Improvements, Curb and Gutter and Sewer Jobs Approved

The city council held public hearings on a number of improvements last night and confirmed special assessments after no objections had been recorded.

The projects which are now confirmed are as follows: Sewer on N. Durkee street from Circle street 165 feet north; curb and gutter on N. Erb street from Brewster to Parkway boulevard, on W. Fourth street from Story to Mason and on E. Hancock from Morrison to Superior; sewer on N. Linwood avenue from Wisconsin avenue to Summer.

Paving of E. Wisconsin avenue at Meade street; improving N. Superior street from Parkway boulevard to city limits and W. Winnebago street from Richmond street to Badger avenue with soil cement stabilized pavement at $1 per foot.

The Wisconsin avenue widening project at Meade street was awarded to Robert Schultz, the low bidder, at $704.75. A number of property owners were present at the meeting to inquire into the methods used in the soil cement stabilized pavement and an explanation was given them. The council voted to lease for five years to John Gmeinweiser a piece of city-owned property on the south side of W. College avenue in the 300 block. Gmeinweiser will move his Bungalow Lunch, 318 W. College avenue, across the avenue to the site owned by the city.

Award Licenses
The council adopted a license committee report transferring the Class B and PB license of Louis H. Merkel, 325 W. College avenue, and awarding licenses to operate five cabs to the C. F. Smith Livery and Transfer company.

A group of property owners petitioned the council asking "that the ditch where the sewer was built on Wisconsin avenue between Linwood and Badger avenue be filled and be left as is." The petition was referred to the street and bridge committee.

Also referred to committees were requests for curb and gutter on W. Second street from Mason to Outagamie; street sign at intersection of E. Roosevelt and N. Union streets; street light at intersection of E. Alice and N. Lawe streets; an operator's license from Erling Miller, 221 N. State street.

Army Worm Poison Bait Available at Freedom

Because of the widespread invasion of army worms in the town of Freedom, a poison bait mixing station has been set up in the town. County Agent J. F. Magnus said today. The bait may be secured at the Geurts Bros. garage.

The poison should be spread in a strip from four to six rods wide in the crop in which the worms are feeding. About eight pounds should be used to the acre. The spreading should be done late in the afternoon or in the evening as the worms do most of their feeding at night.

Quartets are Urged to Select Names for Rally in September

To add a bit of color to the affair and to give the boys a chance to exercise their literary talents, it has been suggested that quartets entering in the Barbershop Quartet tournament at Pierce park the night of either Sept. 4 or 5 select names for themselves.

These are just samples and as such probably aren't very impressive but just to get the general idea how about "The Fox River Four" or "The Barbershop Bards" or "The Four Hims" (hymns, get it?) or something real plain and to the point like "The Singing Dutchmen."

Interest in the quartet tournament is mounting rapidly as shown by the number of telephone calls the Post-Crescent has been receiving.

Emergency Bill Gives Queson Broad Powers

Manila—(AP)—A bill conferring wide emergency powers on President Manuel Queson was given third reading approval today by the national assembly. It now goes to Queson.

The measure, designed to meet an emergency situation resulting from falling revenues due to disturbance of exports and imports by war conditions, was passed 62 to 1.

Assemblyman Juan Aiano, the lone dissenter, contended the bill was against the spirit of the commonwealth's constitution.

Queson will have the power under the act to control farming, industries, wages, profits, hours of work, distribution of labor, transportation including shipping, public service, rents and prices of prime necessities. He also may prohibit lockouts and strikes.

Pegler Scores First Lady's Decision to Stay in Guild

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—To return to the subject of Mrs. Roosevelt's decision to remain a member of the newspaper guild, which is controlled by the communists, I would like to call attention to the effrontery of this lady's attitude in presuming to vote and exert an influence in affairs which are none of her business, but which are terribly important to legitimate journalists.

Journalism is not Mrs. Roosevelt's occupation; she is not properly eligible for membership in the guild, and her resolve to remain a member, notwithstanding the fact that it has become a soviet outpost, is in contrast to her hasty and sensational resignation from the D.A.R. which, whatever its faults, has never been accused of adherence to the communist party or the Nazi or fascist movement. Her determination to remain in the guild and participate in its decisions is an imposition on the rights of editorial workers in and out of the guild.

This organization recently held a convention in Memphis, in which the muscovite control was confirmed by a typical communist political trick. The non-communists had organized a rebellion, and the communists thereupon split into two factions for a mock fight.

They set up a phony rebel faction of their own, which took the play away from the legitimate, anti-communist group, and the two communist groups then closed in from both sides to prevent "red-baiting" and elect the bolo control.

I called the turn on this before the convention met, exposing them the fake character of the fight between the two communist groups. The scheme was so good that it was just too good; for it revealed at last to many editorial workers the smooth, efficient political cunning of the communists in control. At the psychological moment the two bands of comrades dropped their pretense of antipathy and came together to defeat the Americans and silence a proposed condemnation of communism, along with the two other infectious political diseases.

The communist party is now in absolute control of the American Newspaper Guild, and any employer who signs a closed-shop contract with this transmission belt, whereby non-guild employees would be compelled to join or be fired, is literally driving these people into the power of the communist party.

Such a move is now in progress on the New York Times and in the Hearst papers, and the authority of the United States government is being invoked, under the Wagner act, to help a subversive organization to control these journalists.

Presence of Bolo is Not Matter of Opinion

That Mrs. Roosevelt is not aware of the communist control of the guild I will not admit. This is no matter of interpretation or opinion. It is an obvious fact, and her intention to remain a member for the purpose of fighting the communists will be considered in the light of her attitude toward the communists in control of the American Youth Congress.

In that organization her activity has seemed more like cooperation or conciliation than opposition. But, aside from the question whether she will oppose or cooperate with the communists, the fact remains that she has no right to intrude in decisions affecting the professional and political freedom of real newspaper people. She is not a journalist but a diarist and a dilettante, and her participation in guild affairs is a presumption.

The communists are now deliberately trying to drive out the legitimate newspapermen and women, so that they can hold over them the penalty of expulsion. Thus when they have achieved the closed shop they would permanently exclude from all departments of journalism all those individuals who have the principle and the courage to reject soviet leadership.

They have now come into the open, after several years of evasion, with a frank declaration that anyone who resigns from the guild may be permanently expelled from membership and thus made ineligible for employment in any closed shop.

The prestige of the presidency of the United States, which is Mrs. Roosevelt's sole qualification here, should not be added to the weapons, with which a subversive organization is attacking the rights of American citizens.

Wants Hatch to Act in Sale of Campaign Books

Lawrence Says Party Should be made to Return Donors' Money

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—There is something mysterious about the apparent refusal of Attorney General Robert H. Jackson to enforce the Federal Corrupt Practices act as it refers to the Democratic National committee and its campaign book for which it collects money from corporations in violation of the existing statutes.

Earlier this week, the attorney general in a letter to Senator Hatch of New Mexico called attention to the fact that while the present Hatch law, enacted on July 19, 1940, "provides penalties for those who buy books or advertising space were not covered by the Hatch law."

But, unhappily for the sellers and buyers of advertising space in any book issued by any political committee, the Federal Corrupt Practices act of 1925 is still on the statute books, and the Hatch laws of 1939 and 1940 are "in addition to and not in substitution for" the previous statutes governing election practices. In the law of 1925, known generally as the Federal Corrupt Practices act, appears the following section 251:

Provisions Of Act

"It is unlawful for any national bank, or any corporation organized by authority of any law or congress to make a contribution in connection with any election to any political office, or for any corporation whatever to make a contribution in connection with any election at which presidential and vice presidential electors or a senator or representative in congress are to be voted for, or for any candidate, political committee, or other person to accept or receive any contribution prohibited by this section. Every corporation which makes any contribution in violation of this section shall be fined not more than $5,000, and every officer or director of any corporation who consents to any contribution by the corporation in violation of this section shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year or both."

Section 252: Any person who violates any of the foregoing provisions of this chapter, except those for which a specific penalty is imposed by section 208 and section 251 of this title, shall be fined not more than $1,000 or imprisoned not more than one year, or both."

What is a "contribution?" This term is defined in the same Federal Corrupt Practices act of 1925 as follows:

"The term 'contribution' includes a gift, subscription, loan, advance, or deposit, of money, or anything of value, and includes a contract, promise or agreement, whether or not legally enforceable, to make a contribution."

Now would the attorney general say that when a corporation buys

Hollywood—Dear Staff: I've never felt quite so old as I did the other afternoon when I attended Robert Stack's lawn party, where most of the guests were movie youngsters near Bob's age (he's just achieved twenty-one). They ranged from Shirley Temple, Judy Garland, Lana Turner, Bonita Granville, Esme O'Brien (the NY society mink), Arleen Whelan, Jackie Cooper, Bill Orr, Bob Stack—so many more that continued recitation of their names would become boring.

They were playing together just like any other gang of kids. If one of them stopped to give a thought to his own importance, own very late thirties, I glanced down on their tender years and no fool!—rheumatism and gout began to get me!

But it was an inspiring party, not merely because so many young stars were letting down their hair and having fun, but because such an array of famous guests couldn't be assembled anywhere else.

There were at least twenty-five youngsters whose individual salaries range from twenty thousand to three hundred thousand a year. Shirley Temple, Judy Garland, Lana Turner, Bonita Granville, Esme O'Brien (the NY society mink), Arleen Whelan, Jackie Cooper, Bill Orr, Bob Stack—so many more that continued recitation of their names would become boring.

They were playing together just like any other gang of kids. If one of them stopped to give a thought to his own importance,

Beware, the Hungry Men!

A contributor to the Red Book forum with a history of great nations as his guide has written an appealing review of national ambitions and efforts under the caption "Hungry Men Fight Hardest."

Hunger, of course, is not limited to the stomach. There is hunger for position, hunger for justice, hunger for equality, hunger for that supposedly happy place of contentment in the sun.

Spain, he points out, ruled the world "while hungry Spaniards like Cortez and Pizarro could rip with powder and steel into happy civilizations defended by wood and bronze." But the hungry Spaniards were followed by still more hungry Englishmen. And Drake, Frobenius and Hawkins "applied the rulelessm of highway men to war at sea."

Then, too, the French were indomitable, not merely because they had excellent leadership under Napoleon but because the Frenchmen of the day were as hungry for rights and dignity as were the Germans who just mastered them.

But how about America? The men who cleared the forests, subdued the torrents and plowed the prairies were Hungry Men. They faced savagery without wincing. Hesitation was not in their rule book. They conquered, pushed on, built and pushed on again. No whining voices there, no soft muscles, no feeble spirits, for America was then a race of Hungry Men.

But does that mean that America, now soft and flabby, and whose course is laid to still more softness and flabbiness, must wither and decay? There is still, pleads the contributor, another kind of hunger, a Hunger for Decency.

But decency is never to be preserved unless we throw away our miserly dreams about all the gold we have, and even throw the gold with it, and go back to the rules of the pioneers,—out of bed to the tasks of the day, courage in our private and public lives, honesty in our national policies, but always away from the softness, the sloppy life, the indolent day and the lounge lizard night.

What we need in America today is Hungry Men, hungry in the ambition to live worthwhile lives, hungry to bring back the spirit and the rules of the "horse and buggy days" so deplorably tossed in the ditch as a badge of shame.

Even with the great advantage and protection of the two oceans it were a far better policy for this country of ours to get its manhood in shape as against any eventuality of the future.

For manhood and leadership in a nation are like capital and labor, each indispensable to the other and each unable to stand alone.

Italy and Germany Give Us Advice

Some time ago Nazis No. 2 man, Herr Goering, said that it was silly to charge the Reich with any hostile purposes toward America.

Recently this speech was repeated by the Roman editor who serves as a sounding board for Mussolini. The Italian said that our Secretary of State was "creating a phantom of German-Italian menace" for political purposes.

The fact is that neither the word of Rome nor the word of Berlin is worth a peanut shuck. And the fact also is that the possible danger from that direction will be greatly exaggerated in this country for political purposes.

America's program in the face of conflicting statements, worthless promises, and political campaigns is not difficult. It should prepare for any eventuality. In this way it can make Herr Goering and Signor Gayda speak the truth even if they hadn't intended doing so.

As the German-Italian forces walk up and down on the continental side of the English channel and gaze with anxiety to the west at the great hazard and the doubtful undertaking of crossing 22 miles of tides, what would they be doing in preparation to cross 3,000 miles? But the life of a great nation should not be balanced upon even the seemingly impregnable safety our position offers. Preparation should be made to resist hostility even when armies come by airplanes thousands of miles and bring 80-ton tractors, 400-ton siege guns, and 20 billion tons of ammunition, food and supplies with them, to say nothing of 20,000 trucks, 10,000 ambulances and all the other 30,000 separate articles that an army must have.

High Priest Guffey Rewrites History

"Ambition
Is like the sea wave which the more you drink
The more you thirst—yee—drink too much, as men
Have done on rafts of wreck—it drives
you mad."

To Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania goes the distinction of leading the American people to believe that third terms or fourth terms or fifth terms are all fine things for the country.

Like the stukas at the front Mr. Guffey starts out to destroy the first line of defense. "The whole truth," says this notable statesman, is that "there is no such tradition as the third term tradition." It is all just "a political fiction." Continuing in his task of re-writing American history this pillar of the New Deal said:

"The tradition, therefore, must be seen for what it is, an artificial contrivance of politicians used heretofore in our political system solely to thwart popular will by denying renomination to a popular president."

The Third Termites have been unable, as yet, to prove that Washington served three terms. But they advance a number of reasons for his modesty. They say he was sick. They say he was tired of office. They say he wanted to look after his personal affairs.

But before this campaign is over Senator Guffey will tell them the truth. Washington was an old devil. He was plotting to become king. A subtle fellow, too, he aimed at disarming all suspicion by refusing a third term as president. Then when the new man was in office his purpose was to march on the capital with an army of Indians. Only his sudden contraction of pneumonia and unexpected death saved America for Franklin Roosevelt, the money changers in the temple and Guffey.

After Guffey finishes on the Third Term tradition he should write immediately a chapter on the Harding administration. We would be very interested in seeing what he has to say about the lofty patriotism and high-mindedness of Attorney General Harry Daugherty who dismissed that grand jury indictment against Guffey for embezzling several hundred thousand dollars of governmental property left in his keeping as custodian of alien property and playing the stock market with it to his great personal advantage. Maybe we are on the trail of one of the temple's money changers. Those boys are great with disguises.

Certainly a most interesting and novel history of the country is in process of compilation by the patriot from Pennsylvania.

Army and CCC Pay

Complaint is made because the basic pay for a young man entering the army is but $21 per month whereas in the CCC it is $30 per month.

There is a proper way to account for the difference. The army is built upon realism. The CCC, though initiated for an excellent purpose, is still plastered over with politics.

That extra $9 per month is one of the methods employed to influence votes in America without becoming responsible for a breach of the law.

Rumania—Did War Pay?

About 24 years ago Rumania entered the war upon the side of the allied nations.

Rumania had been always a backward, ignorant, non-democratic country.

But when she entered the war a certain sort of halo was cast about her. She was hailed as a comrade tried and true. Her purpose was to climb the heights of decency and intelligence and become a democracy like the rest of the good little children.

Little was it known at the time in America that no Shylock ever drove a bargain the way Rumania sold her soldiers' lives for the glory of national aims. Rumania, like Italy, entered that war for what there was in it. And although her army was scattered to the winds and she suffered shocking reverses her side won and she came into her reward.

But now Russia has taken back Bessarabia, Bulgaria is coming into the lands shortly theretofore wrested from her, and Hungary, looks as though she will repossess herself of Transylvania.

The rulers of Rumania once read in a book, "War does not pay." But they didn't believe it. Now they are realizing the truth. Rumania has spent thousands of innocent lives, untold millions of treasure, and then lost the prize for which she hazarded all.

And yet is not situation any worse than that of America in entering a war for idealistic purposes and coming out with the same round zero Rumania secured?

Who shall be condemned more, the one who goes to war for land and gold and business, and finds he cannot retain what is thus secured, or the one who foolishly approaches battle clutching the notion that he is crusading in the middle centuries on the way to Jerusalem?

Opinions of Others

According to America Speaks polls, President Roosevelt's standing with the voters suffered a sharp drop in both Pennsylvania and California after the Republicans nominated Wendell Willkie.

These rally polls are not necessarily indicative of the election outcome. The phenomenon referred to, however, does bear interestingly on

BY DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN
Washington—Inside details gradually leaking out regarding the Havana conference show that even greater credit is due Cordell Hull. Unquestionably, "The Old Man," as he is called by the younger men of the state department, did a magnificent job.

His patience, tolerance and tact won out over many difficult situations, one of them being a last-minute western hemisphere "mandates" over British, French and Dutch possessions in the Americas.

Just as it looked as if the sub-committee had about agreed on the administration of these possessions, Senator Lopez, who once studied at the University of Paris, delivered a long speech, quoting liberally from his Paris professors and proposing a new means of dealing with allied possessions in the Americas.

Other delegates objected to his plan, but he remained obdurate. Time passed, no progress was possible, and finally Secretary Hull adjourned the meeting until 10 p. m.

That night the delegates were the guests of the foreign minister of Cuba, Secretary Hull wore white tie and tails. But he left the dinner early, doffed his evening dress and turned up promptly at 10 p. m. for the sub-committee meeting.

But aside from the interpreter, he was the only delegate there. So he sat down to wait. About 10:20 p. m. the Ecuadoran delegate arrived, obviously in high spirits after the dinner. He joined Mr. Hull who still solemnly waited. Then at 10:30 came the Argentine and Brazilian delegates; then the Dominican and the Panaman. Still the Colombian delegate, for whom the meeting was called, did not appear.

Finally, just before 11 p. m. he arrived. Secretary Hull still waited patiently. No sooner did Senator Lopez put his head in the door than he said:

"On behalf of my government, I withdraw the proposal which I made today."

Cordell Hull had won out—just by waiting.

SOUTH AMERICAN POLAND
Biggest undercover crisis in the conference took place at a private session of the sub-committee on western hemisphere possessions. Argentina was opposing the U. S. plan to take over British and French islands, if it looked as if they might fall into Nazi hands.

This brought forth a long and impassioned plea from Mr. Hull for American unity. He pointed out that a new system of pillage and murder had arisen in Europe, setting the world back 800 years. Whether the Americas liked it or not, he said, they had to cope with it. They could not merely say they expected to remain neutral.

Poland and Norway, Mr. Hull continued, had said they wanted to remain neutral. So also had Holland and Belgium. And because they had tried to be neutral, they were dragged down one by one. If they had, stuck together, he said, these countries would be in a far different position today.

So, he concluded, this is what the western hemisphere faces, and the countries of the Americas can either stand together and survive, or stand separately and fall.

It was a most eloquent plea, and made a profound impression. But immediately after he had finished, the Argentine delegate arose and said:

"But my country does not want to be the Poland of South America."

Note—Most important victory for Mr. Hull was a flat permission for the United States to intervene to take over French and British islands, if necessary. This does not require consultation with other countries, nor does the Act of Havana require ratification by different congresses. The most vital part reads: "Should the need for emergency action be so urgent that action by the committee cannot be awaited, any of the American republics, shall have the right to act in the manner which its own defense or that of the continent requires."

WHO IS THE MAN?

Curiosity continues regarding whom the president was talking about in his Chicago speech when he said everyone had been cooperating in the national defense program except one man.

The White House has now let it be known that this was not meant to be Henry Ford, who had just turned down a big order for British motors. However, no other word has leaked out as to whom the president was referring.

So newsmen expect to ask him when he returns from Hyde Park.

ROOSEVELT JAP BEETLES

Japanese beetles have invaded the White House gardens this year in greater numbers and with greater damage than ever before. This is in spite of the vigilant efforts of gardener William Reeves, who has done everything to get rid of them except put salt on their tails.

The invasion is now over, and he has a chance to appraise the results. Ten days ago, he found as many as 25 or 30 beetles on a single rose. Now they have disappeared, to wait for another season.

The best repellent, Reeves finds, is arsenic of lead. "Mix it pretty strong," he says, "with a good white color. There's no danger of burning, and the whiteness helps keep the beetles away. They don't like white objects. You can even take flour and spread it on a plant, and the beetles will stay away."

FAIR AND WARMER

I thought, once, that the very nicest phrase was one I overheard one night at dinner. Somebody looked at me with careful gaze, And said: "I think that she is getting thinner!"

But April has changed places with July, And every summer day has threatened rain. We plan a picnic, hoping that the sky Will smile upon us, but our hopes are vain the alleged indispensability of Mr. Roosevelt which led him to make a bid for a third term. Apparently a good many Americans who believed a third term advisable under existing circumstances changed their minds as soon as they heard about Mr. Willkie. In the minds of those Americans, at least, the president is not so indispensable as either they or he thought—Detroit News.

COMPULSORY MILITARY TRAINING

Editor Post-Crescent—"President Roosevelt, Secretary of War Stimson, and Secretary of the Navy Knox are endorsing compulsory military training as an essential element of the defense drive," so says the news.

This is not compulsory military training as we know it. This regimentation will eventually include every one, men, women and even children.

Wives and mothers of America, do we wish to see our husbands and sons torn from their firesides and from their jobs, their liberties destroyed? Do we wish to leave our homes and families, to go out each day to some designated job? Do we wish to see our children herded together like cattle under state domination, their very souls destroyed by the rotten teachings of those who will be placed over them?

How clever and diabolical these schemers are? After creating terror and hysteria in the minds of the American people, these international money changers who created Communism in Russia, play their last hand.

Let us look at our cabinet in Washington. Secretary of State Hull is married to a member of one of these banking families, who, according to the American Official Service Report, helped to finance the Russian revolution. Boake Carter tells us that Mr. Stimson, Secretary of War is legal advisor to this company, and, that Mr. Stimson's law firm has extensive British-French business attachments. Mr. Carter also tells us that the Chicago Daily News, which is published by Colonel Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy, numbers this banking company among its largest stockholders.

Are we willing to surrender the liberty fought for at Valley Forge to these financiers and their friends?

Let us take a look at Sidney Hillman, who has been appointed by President Roosevelt to control our youth after they have been drafted. Who and what is he? To quote the Communist Party's Sunday Worker of Sept. 24, 1939, review of George Soule's book on Hillman, "By the time Sidney was 20, he had been in Russia's revolutionary movement, took part in illegal educational circles, served a six and a four month sentence, tried England, and finally landed in America. In 1921, Hillman visited the Soviet Union and formed the Russian-American Industrial Corporation to help Soviet Russia."

Hillman is, or, was national vice president of the alleged Red-controlled CIO. When Hillman was president of the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers, each member was assessed ten dollars to aid Loyalist Spain during the Spanish Civil War. Everyone now knows that this Loyalist government of Spain was Communist.

Are we American citizens willing to put the youth of our nation under the teaching of Russian-born Sidney Hillman?

If not, we must get busy. We find our Wisconsin senators and representatives fighting valiantly for our liberties. Let us write them a word of encouragement.

An American Mother.

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

You can get some idea how dopey America has been in the matter of national defense from the fact that thousands of militiamen now engaged in war games are using ice wagons for tanks, stove pipes for anti-aircraft guns and gas pipe for machine guns. The state guards rent ice and coal trucks and label them "light tanks" so friend and foe in the sham battles will know what they are when they see 'em. Even the Netherlands and Finland never get that careless.

When the richest country on earth in this warlike age, has to use an ice wagon for a modern tank, it's pretty humiliating to the people and to the soldiers. And I don't figure the ice wagon likes it very much, either.

In some regiments wooden guns or even signs are being used to denote anti-aircraft guns and mortars. I hope these maneuvers don't lead the boys to believe that if war comes they can go to a sign painter for weapons.

I see where the government is thinking of seizing the French frozen assets for this country as payment for her war debts. That loud yell you hear is Mr. Hitler reacting to this suggestion.

He'll take the attitude that whatever belongs to France belongs to him and he ain't gonna pay no French war debts.

All He Can Offer You Is Gold

Under the Capitol Dome

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison—Although Governor Heil recently announced that he would postpone the formal opening of his campaign for a new term until August 24, when he will speak at the Waukesha county rural school where he studied as a boy more than half a century ago, for all practical purposes the Heil campaign has already begun, and with an ambitious flourish.

Emblazoned on the big windows of the spacious upper floor of a big building on Wisconsin avenue in downtown Milwaukee are huge pictures of the governor, in color, together with such slogans as "One good term deserves another," and "Help the Republicans and Heil Economic."

The Milwaukee headquarters is again in charge of the businessmen who steered Heil's unorthodox, but highly successful, political fling in 1938, including the Heil company advertising manager—who recently resigned his post for the duration of the campaign.

ECONOMY NOTE

Each issue of the Wisconsin conservation department's monthly bulletin, circulated widely through the schools and conservation clubs in the state, costs the state $1200 for printing and paper, exclusive of editorial charges.

During the last two months the department has used at least 15 full pages to present its views in its dispute with the Heil administration's research bureau. The average bulletin runs to 90 pages. Thus the department's pages of explanation and defense represent a cost of $200.

A REPLY

This column acknowledges the receipts of a highly amusing letter from a top ranking Wisconsin politician who recently figured in these paragraphs on state government and politics.

"You refer to me as a maverick," the letter notes. I asked . . . what it meant, and he said it was a fighting word. . . Miss . . . insisted that it was a species of lonesome duck, and somehow related to the genus maul-hen. My brother, who raises daughters and cows on a ranch, has replied to my inquiry with the information that a maverick is a steer (he didn't specify sex) that cannot be branded. This classification somehow pleased me, and I should have let well enough alone.

"Stupidly, however, I kept on prying deeper and deeper into the problem and consulted Mr. Webster's dictionary. As a result of my over-enthusiastic research, I am currently suffering from an insidious attack of deflated ego. Mr. Webster calmly and cold-bloodedly and without fear of contradiction states that a maverick is a motherless calf! What is your definition of the term? I stand or fall down according to your final decision!"

CONSCRIPTION

One of the difficulties which Republican senate candidates are finding as they strike out against New Deal government is that Senator LaFollette on most recent national issues agrees with them. The votes of LaFollette and the Republican congressmen in Wisconsin are identical on most foreign policy issues in Washington in the last year. Today some of the Republican senate aspirants denounce proposals for military conscription. Again they find LaFollette agreeing with them.

In the current issue of his newspaper, which will reach Progressives throughout the state tomorrow LaFollette proposes voluntary enlistment promotion by reducing the enlistment period to 18 months, increasing pay of army men, and a pledge by the government that those who join the army will never have to fight outside the western hemisphere.

Personal Health Talks

HEMORRHOIDS

Having held the bad habit of constant nagging with physics responsible for the development of hemorrhoids (piles) in a great many cases, I suppose it is only fair to say that a dose of salts, any kind of brisk saline cathartic (least objectionable, perhaps, is a bottle of Solution of Magnesium Citrate Effervescent—the whole twelve-ounce bottle is only a moderate dose) is a good emergency remedy for the relief of an acute, painful "attack" of piles. The direct effect of a dose of salts is to attract water, from the congested area, and discharge the water in watery evacuations, and this diminishes portal congestion and hence diminishes congestion in the hemorrhoidal area.

No local or internal medication can cure piles in the sense of putting an end to the trouble. Local medication can only relieve pain or congestion and so help to shorten the discomfort or suffering of the "attack." After the "attack" is over, that is, after the inflammation subsides, the pile, or piles are still there, and it is only a question of time, habits and personal hygiene how long before another "attack" will occur.

One who suffers from recurring "attacks" of piles or from pain or from bleeding, should not temporize or waste time and money on nostrums purporting to be "pile cures," but should have the trouble properly treated as a matter of comfort, good health, safety and economy.

The modern treatment of piles, either internal or external, is practically painless and may be carried out in the physician's office without interrupting the patient's everyday activities. It is as quaint and stupid to hesitate to seek medical treatment for fear treatment will hurt as it is to evade proper treatment from prudish embarrassment.

Instead of using mailorder catalogues, flour sacks, newspapers, corncobs, leaves, grass and so-called toilet paper for toilet of the perineum, as we do in this country, it would be far better hygiene to use soap and water for cleaning and a towel merely for drying the perineal region after defecation. It would advance the level of hygiene and health in this country tremendously, in my opinion, if about ten million more wash basins were installed in public eating places which now have none or impossibly primitive accommodations for washing the hands.

The bundle also needs awakening to the value of and necessity for bidets in bathrooms in homes. A bidet is a modified sitz bath, provided with hot and cold running water and means of flushing; it is a convenience for proper cleanliness and the bathroom without it is a crude arrangement even if it is adorned with solid gold dweigs and tile right up to the ceiling.

Anyway, one subject to piles must practice scrupulous soap and water cleanliness in order to avoid unduly frequent "attacks." A single failure to observe this requirement may mean another attack. Indeed, I believe adoption of this rule of cleanliness would not only prevent much suffering from piles but would prevent also a great deal of suffering from other rectal troubles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Airedale Likes It

Following your suggestion I began using wheat germ. Had been in very poor health, spent large sums but obtained little relief. . . have received much benefit. . . recommended it to many friends who also . . . have given some of the left-over wheat germ to our Airedale and since he began eating it (he likes it, too) his fur is thicker, he has put on weight, and is livelier than ever. (Mrs. K. F. C.)

Answer—Pups and kittens need vitamin B complex as much as human beings do. Old dogs weak in the hind quarters need it. Dogs behaving as the "mad" respond remarkably to hypodermic injections of large doses of synthetic vitamin B, (thiamin hydrochloride).

Canned Food
Are all canned foods acid in reaction? Have read that they are, even tho they have alkaline reaction before canning.

(Mrs. L. G. G.)

Answer—No. Canning has practically no effect on the reaction of food.

The Kimberly nine has a record of two victories and three defeats and will fall below the Merchants if they are defeated Sunday. Wahlers probably will be on the mound for Neenah with Kimberly using its left-handed ace, Behr.

Kaukauna is in a tie for the league cellar with Neenah with a record of one victory against three defeats for the second half. The lone victory was over the Appleton Gettlemann Brew team while the Kaws have been defeated by Manitowoc, Oshkosh and Neenah.

During the first half, however, the Kaws won seven games, although four were by one run. They opened the season against Menasha and scored a 16 to 7 victory in a slugfest. The Falcons have not forgotten that game and have a new hurler, George Hoffman, who will attempt to stop the Kaukauna team.

Although they won all of their games, the Kaws do not hold the first half championship. Their 7 to 5 victory over Oshkosh was protested over use of an ineligible player. The protest was allowed and the game has not been played over.

Artie Buzanowski, first baseman for the Falcons, is back in uniform again after being out for almost the entire season with an injured hand. Frank Kolakowski also has recovered from an injury and the team will be almost at full strength Sunday. Only Richard Sheleski, outfielder, will not be ready to play.

Case Records of a Psychologist

By Dr. George W. Crane
Psychologist, Northwestern University

Psychology is defined as the science of behavior, and as such, it is certainly full of fascinating problems. Look at Carl's situation below, for example, and you will see how he lost a sale by violating a simple axiom of applied psychology. If he had read this Case Record first, he probably would have sold this woman a new iron and some parlor lamps.

CASE R-142: Carl J., aged 31, is a salesman for an electrical appliance house.

"But I certainly wouldn't buy anything of him," a friend of ours exclaimed vehemently.

"He came inside under the guise that he was sent out to test the electric irons, and then tried to sell me a new one."

I might have bought one, even so, for I have been thinking about getting another iron for our summer cottage. But he shifted to the bridge lamps, and wanted to know why we put up with such 'old jalloppies'.

"Well, I resent his insults to our living room lamps, and refused to buy anything thereafter," Dr. Crane, do you think it is good psychology to belittle a potential customer's furniture?"

DIAGNOSIS: You have already seen a good example of Carl's folly. Even a dumbbell is supposed to know that it is dangerous to belittle a person's children.

But people often develop a possessive feeling for their old automobile or easy chair, which is somewhat akin to their attachment for their own children. This fondness is emotional and might truly be called affection.

As soon as a salesman starts to criticize your automobile, therefore, you are inclined to grow angry. And it is characteristic of human nature that we seldom cooperate voluntarily with people who irritate us.

If you want to make a sale, keep the customer in a good humor. Make him proud of himself and his good judgment, but don't belittle his tastes, his possessions or his children.

If you are trying to sell a product to both husband and wife, it is usually wise to direct most of the sales talk to the man.

In so doing, you inflate his ego by paying deference to his being the apparent head of the household, even though you know the wife is probably the one who will actually make the purchase.

In such cases you seldom offend the wife's vanity, however, for women are not such egotists as men, and they also like to have their husbands appear important.

Men are often jealous of their wives' success, especially in business and the professions, but wives are much less inclined to be jealous of their husband's eminence.

Except in Hollywood and among the careerists, women rejoice in having their husbands excel them.

The Auto Salesman's Strategy
A good automobile salesman never attempts to belittle a car which is being traded in on a new one.

He actually will praise the car, which strategy on his part usually knocks the props from under the owner's arguments, since the latter usually expects to haggle about trade-in allowances.

The clever salesman, however, admits that the car is well worth more money, but tactfully passes the buck to the blue book listing and his lack of authority to make any higher allowance, much as he would like to do so.

The customer meanwhile feels kindly toward the salesman for agreeing that he has kept his car in such good condition. He thinks the salesman has good judgement, so he accepts the latter's further sales points less critically.

Since the salesman has been more than fair in his compliments, he will be more likely to make the deal. If you are interested in the "PSYCHOLOGY OF ADVERTISING AND SELLING," send for my bulletin on that subject, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope with a dime for handling charges.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Some Marital Ventures Frighten Others Away

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—The reason that I have never married is because, after having observed the married lives of so many of my friends and relatives, it seemed to me that it didn't pay. It appeared to me that there was no percentage in it for the man, for all he got out for the privilege of supporting a wife was being Jones who pays the freight. Most of the married men I know are deathly afraid of their wives and are driven to lying to furnish an alibi for staying downtown for dinner occasionally. I believe marriage should be a fifty-fifty partnership where the individual rights should be respected, but wives evidently do not approve of this ratio. So, as I figured that if I married I would lose 90 per cent of my independence and have only 10 per cent for myself, I concluded it was a bad bargain and have stayed single, though I still believe in marriage. For others. BACHELOR.

Answer:
Undoubtedly the Awful Examples of marriage that we see all about us are enough to scare any but the foolhardy from going into such a risky venture. Fortunately, however, Cupid throws stardust in the eyes of the young and blinds boys and girls to the chances they are taking and makes them believe that this can't happen to us, so the wedding bells continue to ring merrily on. And, really, after all, the holy estate isn't as bad as it seems to a looker-on, or else those who have tried it once wouldn't be rushing back into it, as they almost invariably do when they lose their mates by death or divorce.

One would think that the husbands and wives whose marriage had been one continual fight would be so glad when the battle was over that they would be happy to live in peace and singleness forever after. But they don't. They are miserable until they get into the scrimmage again. Which leads to the inevitable conclusion that for many husbands and wives the pleasure of marriage is scraping.

One would think that the men who had nagging wives, and the women who had been married to tyrannical husbands once they regained their freedom would never risk losing it again. But they do. They simply stick out their necks for the yoke again.

Of course, the ideal theory of marriage is for a couple to go into it on the 50-50 basis, but I doubt if this can ever be carried out in actual life. Women by the very nature of things has to sacrifice more in marriage than a man does. She is more bound down by home and children than he is. She has to do more of the adjusting.

Neither man nor woman can have 50 per cent of personal liberty after marriage, because they cannot be both bond and free. But the reward of marriage is in not what you salvage for yourself of your personal liberty, but loving some one well enough to be willing to give it up for him or her.

Modern Mother's Job No Secure
Dear Miss Dix—My husband contends that wives today have a cinch compared to the times when Mother was a girl, whereas I argue that life is just as hard for the modern wife. She lacks preparation because she has been a business girl and has not been taught how to cook and manage a house, and she has more baby and household ideals to live up to. Which of us is right?

Answer:
I think life is always a standoff, for if you get things easy in one way they are hard in another, and there you are.

Of course, looking at a wife's work from the man's point of view, it does seem that she has a cinch compared with his mother. Mother didn't have a kitchen full of gadgets. She didn't have a gas range, nor an electrical washing machine, nor a vacuum cleaner, nor a delicatessen store in the corner, nor the whole animal and vegetable kingdom put up in cans, nor a hundred labor-saving devices that the modern woman has.

But on the contrary, Mother didn't have a husband who changed his shirt and his undies every day. She had never heard of vitamins and didn't have to prepare balanced meals. She didn't have to pad the streets pushing a perambulator for hours every day because the baby had to have so much fresh air. She just put the baby to sleep by an open window and let it go at that. And, oh, luxury of luxuries, she was emancipated from the Baby Book, than which there is no greater tyranny on earth.

And Mother regarded marriage as a permanent institution wherein if you had got your man you had him for life, and it gave you the privilege of letting out your corset strings and being comfortable. So she didn't worry about keeping her looks or her figure, or trying to be glamorous in order to retain her husband's affection.

Nor did she have to work herself blue in the face trying to keep her husband entertained and amused. Nor was she expected to belong to study clubs and keep up with the times. She just stayed put and attended her knitting, and didn't try to be both a society leader and a combination cook and nursemaid.

So, taking it ray and large, there isn't much to choose between Mother and wife as which has the most to do. Both have their hands full.

Retaining Hatred Always Poor Policy
Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband and I have been happily married for our eight years. Through both our efforts we have established a good business and are doing nicely. Now my husband's parents, who have always ignored us, are making gestures of friendship to us. Their only original objection was that they did not want my husband to marry. Incidentally, they are very comfortably situated and I do not want to refuse any offer of generosity they might want to make, but which would be ironical now that we are out of financial difficulty. It is hard, however, for me to be big enough to even speak to them. Am I wrong? R. E. T. Answer:

I think so. There is nothing that pays such bitter dividends as to cherish a hatred toward any one. It fills your own life with emotions that poison it and takes the pleasure out of everything you do. The only recipe for happiness is to forgive and forget the wrong that has been done you.

Bad Ethics To Hesitate On Finesse

BY ELY CULBERTSON

Hesitation in following suit may be either highly unethical or downright stupid, depending on the situation. If a defender hesitates to give declarer the impression he has a choice of plays when actually he holds only one card in the suit led, he is guilty of bad ethics. If he hesitates honestly over a choice of plays, he supplies the declarer with vital information. The situation in today's hand is typical of the foolish hesitation.

South, dealer.

West opened his fourth best heart, dummy played low, and East's king won. Not being able to read the exact heart situation, but hoping that West could force out dummy's only entry. East returned a heart.

Declarer won this trick and, counting that he would be able to make only two heart tricks, three diamonds, two clubs, and one spade, a total of eight, without establishing at least one other spade trick, he led the ace and a low spade. On the second spade lead, West foolishly hesitated over whether or not he should go up with his king. Now, since it would have been highly unethical for him to have hesitated unless he knew West to be an ethical player, the guess was abruptly removed from the situation. Obviously, no player would hesitate about playing the jack, if he held it.

After the momentary hesitation, West properly ducked, but the harm had been done. Dummy's queen was put up, and after that no defense was possible.

This situation arises time and again and correct play by the defender requires more than pure knowledge. Assuming the declarer to be a smart player, West must play low to the second trick with precisely the proper degree of non-chalance. If he plays a low card with lightning rapidity, the declarer may look at it askance and decide that West was too innocent. If he hesitates, he is marked with the king, since to do so without the king would be tantamount to cheating.

Beauty and You

GREEK COIFFURE—Rosemary Lane models one of the newest Greek coiffures in "Boys from Syracuse." It has a gracious beauty and is cool for summer nights.

The ancient Greek women liked to dress their hair high and perhaps that is why modern beauties are adopting those styles for summer wear. Curls are held high off the nape of the neck by colored bands, rolled kerchiefs, or false braids.

If you want to be truly glamorous one of these romantic summer nights, you may dress your hair in pompadour fashion with a mass of small curls in back from the top of your crown to the nape of your neck. Then take a ribbon or artificial braid and wind it around your head—back of your ears and off the front pompadour. That will keep the curls in place and look quite new and daring. Greek ladies pinned fruit or flowers in their hair, and so may you. In fact those little feathered birds are back in favor provided the gown you wear can stand such head decoration!

Insist Upon Soft Permanent
If you get a soft permanent wave, you may dress your hair in any number of fashions. But if your hair comes out of the process frizzy, you will not be able to do a thing with it until it has had several reconditioning treatments.

There is a very new wave that may have reached your town, which is given without the aid of a machine. Your hair is rolled on little steel curlers, which are perforated. These curlers are later connected to small rubber tubes and a curling fluid is poured through the curlers. Then several gallons of fresh water is poured through to rinse out the curling fluid and if you desire, you may have a softening shampoo directly after the waving is finished. This wave is supposed to be soft, and even thin stubborn hair seems to curl nicely by this method. If you have difficulty, you might try it.

But don't think for a minute that you can have an ideal wave if your hair has not been reconditioned before you go to the salon. No waving process, this new one included, can bring beauty to your hair. It will curl your hair, but the natural beauty must be in it before you have it waved. Bi-monthly oil treatments and daily brushings do marvels in keeping hair healthy and glossy. You are a foolish beauty if you don't treat your head to both!

Shampooing
Do not shampoo your hair for two weeks after you get a wave, but do brush it with every day and have it set with water once a week. The natural oils of the scalp must be given a chance to lubricate the entire length of the hair which has been curled, and thus give it a lovely sheen. When you do have it shampooed use an oil shampoo or have an oil treatment before a soap shampoo.

Brunettes should strive for the more severe coiffures whereas blonds may have fussier hair-dos. Many brunettes find that having only the ends of their hair waved is sufficient to allow them attractive hair settings. But you must be your own judge of that. A flat soft wave on the crown of the hair may be pressed into sleekness by expert fingers.

Good Taste Today by Emily Post

NOTE OF ACCEPTANCE

One thing I have never been able to find out is WHY yesterday's conventions laid aside all ideas of politeness when it came to answering invitations to formal afternoon teas. Today, unless the hostess asks for a reply, not one person in twenty sends any reply at all. It may have been that in other days, when rules of etiquette were evolved, it was so unusual for any one to decline a reception—or a formal tea invitation—that every one invited was expected. The very few prevented from coming sent their cards by hand as proxies for themselves several hours before the event.

The rule still reads: "Those who find themselves unable to be present must mail their visiting cards the day before the tea." No cards from the Smiths on the morning of the tea should mean that they are all coming.

Yesterday, when people were punctilious about card etiquette, a hostess knew by nine o'clock on the morning of the tea how many regrets to subtract from the invitations sent. She then made final preparations by ordering more or fewer cakes from the bakery.

But today half a dozen visiting cards in the morning's mail are as many as most of us are likely to receive. In short, they number too few to be very helpful. So to a reader who asks, "Would it be proper to send a note of either acceptance or regret to a hostess giving a tea?" my answer is, Yes, it would. Even though not required by etiquette, it would be making a gesture toward greater courtesy.

The following questions have also been sent on the subject of politeness from guest to a hostess who is giving a tea: (1) Shall I enclose our Mr. and Mrs. visiting card with flowers sent to the debutante daughter of friends? (2) What, if anything, should be written on the card? (3) Just where and when should the flowers be sent, and (4) What type of flowers would be most appropriate?

Answer: (1) Yes. (2) Write, "All best wishes for a happy winter," or "Best wishes for the happiest of winters," or "Much love and all good wishes." (3) They should be sent in the early afternoon. (4) A bouquet—by all means! Don't think of sending anything else.

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK

When the weather bureau reports half an inch of rainfall in a day, it may not sound like a great deal, but it takes a heavy rain to make that much.

Half an inch of rain over one acre of ground amounts to about 14,000 gallons! The weight of that many gallons is more than 56 tons.

If half an inch of rain falls on an area of a square mile, it means about 36,000 tons of water tumbling down.

Some deserts of the earth have less than an inch of rain in a whole year. There are not many such deserts, however. Most of them have at least a few inches. When rain does come on a desert, it may pour down with great force.

Yuma, Arizona, is dry most of the time. Its average rainfall is only about a quarter of an inch in a month. Yet there was a time in 1921 when Yuma had more than three and a half inches of rain in the space of 24 hours!

A rainfall map of North America shows a broad belt of land which reaches from the western side of Hudson bay down into Mexico, and which has less than 20 inches of rain in a year. That belt includes a great deal of the prairie land in Canada and the United States.

Most other parts of this continent have more rain. The eastern half of North America has an average of about 35 inches per year, or nearly three inches per month.

The wettest parts of North America include certain sections of British Columbia and the states of Washington and Oregon. The rainfall in those sections is above 80 inches per year. Tillamook county, Oregon, has about 130 inches each year.

The extremely wet parts of the earth are mainly in the torrid zone. They are in India, Burma, the Malay peninsula, in west-central Africa, in the Amazon valley and such islands as Java, Sumatra and New Guinea.

Although the torrid zone has most of the very wet spots, the wettest of all is a little above the northern limit of that zone. It is in the Himalaya mountains, about 150 miles north of Calcutta, India. This "wettest of all spots" has about 400 inches of rain each year.

Hollandtown Woman Observes Her 94th Birthday Anniversary

Hollandtown — "Aunt Dora," as Mrs. Dora Schera is to everyone, celebrates her 94th birthday today quietly at the home of her grandniece, with whom she has made her home the last 18 years.

She came to America shortly after her marriage in 1885 to Matt Schera, from Rochov, Bohemia. On reaching America they secured employment with a wealthy plantation owner in Maryland.

After a few years the couple left Maryland and worked in Milwaukee a short time before coming to St. John where they settled on a farm on the present Highway 114 near Sherwood.

They resided on their farm many years, went through many hardships to clear up their farm from the wilderness to its present fertility.

Roads were only paths in the woods in those days, she says. The bark would be chopped off trees to mark the path that led to the nearest towns of Hilbert and Chilton.

Mr. Schera died in 1916.

Mrs. Schera is active and in good health and performs light household tasks. She spends a great deal of time with her great grandnephew, Jerry Schmidt, 1, who assists her in many ways and whose company she enjoys.

Y. M. C. A. DISTRICT SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS

Astor Bombers 6, Sunlite Tops 2.
Institute 14, Marathon 0.
Rozy's 4, Y. M. C. A. 1.

TONIGHT'S FINALS

6:15—Astor Bombers versus Institute.

7:30—Courtney-Plummer versus Rozy's.

8:45—Winners of first two games for championship.

Narrowed down to four classy teams the American Amateur Softball association district tournament, sponsored by the Y. M. C. A. goes into its last lap at Spencer street field tonight. Winners of the first two games will clash at 8:45 for the championship and the right to represent this district in the state tournament at Kenosha. In the event of rain, the games will be played Sunday evening.

In last night's tilts, Paper Chemistry Institute of Appleton overwhelmed Marathon Paper Mills of Menasha by a 14 to 0 count, Rozy's Tavern of Two Rivers broke away in the fifth and combined two hits with several bad plays and an error to collect three deciding runs. Diener turned in 10 strikeouts but his support bogged down at the wrong time. Two Rivers took advantage of the breaks and therein lies the story. Rozy's Tavern played heads-up ball the entire route, bunting when least expected and always running out the third strike.

Score Line Tally

Y.M.C.A. broke the scoring ice, chalking up its lone tally in the second inning. Kranzsch singled to left center, stole second and scored on Mortell's double. Y.M.C.A. threatened only once after that when Kranzsch doubled in the fourth inning and Mortell beat out an infield hit, Kranzsch taking third. Mortell stole second but the run was retired before they could get home.

Two Rivers counted once in the third to knot the game and then cut loose in the fifth with its final three runs. With two out, Krause dropped Vinnache's third strike and he was safe at first. E. Culligan singled to send Vinnache to third and H. Leclair smashed a triple to score Vinnache and E. Culligan, scoring himself when Krause let the ball get away from him.

Expect Capacity Crowd

A capacity crowd is expected this evening and gates will be opened at 8:45 so the fans can get seated by 9:15.

The Bombers took Sunlite in stride last night by a 6-2 margin in an interesting game. The Bombers, even though minus the services of some of the Packer gridlers, showed a classy ball club. Besides the fine pitching of Faulk, the work of Fitchett at short and Storz at catcher caught the attention of the fans. Both teams came up with some stellar plays and had the fans on edge constantly.

The Sunlite team was the first to draw blood, hanging up a tally in the first inning on Honnie Binner's long home run. The Bombers came right back in their half of the inning and tied it up, Storz drawing a walk and scoring a moment later when Anderson smacked a triple.

Bombers Take Lead

The Bombers took the lead in their half of the third frame when Faulk walked, took second on a passed ball and scored on a single by Clancy. Oshkosh knotted the count in the fourth stanza when Koch got a life on an error and went to third on Mitchell's single. He scored on a single by Kellenberger. Oshkosh failed to tally again as it was just a matter of routine for Faulk from there on in, only nine men facing him in the remaining three innings.

Bombers staged a blitzkrieg in their half of the sixth by flitting four runs. Clancy singled, Fitchett walked and both runners scored on Anderson's second triple. After Kachur relieved Pomerleau for Oshkosh, Jacobs was safe on a fielder's choice. Anderson crossing the plate. Jacobs took second on a passed ball and scored on a double authored by Kerin.

Blick Gives 4 Hits

Behind the fine 4-hit pitching of Johnny Blick, the Institute annihilated Marathons, 14-0. Although Blick had not pitched for over two weeks, the layoff apparently had little effect on his control. He was in complete but once when Menasha filled the bases on two hits and a fielder's choice in the first inning. He got out of the hole without a mark against him. Institute clouted 10 hits and capitalized on 5 Menasha errors to tally three runs in the first inning, eight in the fifth and three more in the sixth. The Menasha squad offered little resistance and didn't look like the flashy, hard-hitting team that defeated Wisconsin Veterans Home Thursday night.

Little Chute—The second half race for the bunting in the Fox River Valley league was thrown wide open. Appleton Red Sox took the wind out of the sails of the Oshkosh 8500 Cabs last Sunday in the only game played, the rest of the contests being called due to soaked diamonds. Oshkosh had won four straight victories and was well in the lead for the second half crown but now another upset would make the race tighter than a fiddle string. Appleton Gettelmans invaded the Oshkosh park and may turn the trick.

Just who will toss for the Oshkosh team is a problem as the Cabs open the second round Tuesday at the state baseball tournament and will have to keep its first string moundmen on the sideline Sunday. Cully Zinth may start against Appleton although he was still suffering from his spill at the Red Sox Park last Sunday. Bob Muggenbauer will be behind the plate. Bill Noffke or Lefty Fredericks will toss for the Gettelmans. Brews with Elmer Horn receiving.

Kaukauna Mellow Brews trek to Menasha to battle the Falcons with the latter still in a position to cop the second round laurels.

New Huron—The Falcons will show a new hurler in George Hoffman, formerly in the Northern league, who will replace Conny Barry, regular moundman who has joined the Green Bay Packers. Diederick will face the home club and will be out to duplicate his feat of the first half when he downed the Falcons, 16 to 7. Diederick twirled the Mellow Brews to six straight wins. The seventh victory for the Kaws was protested and thrown out because Lefty Petckia of Clintonville was ineligible to toe the mound for the Brews. If Oshkosh wins the second half, the game will be played before the series for the league title starts or the game may be played sooner. The game was set for Sunday night but due to the Sentinel Tournament it was postponed again.

Fischl's Dairy team of Manitowoc will invade the Red Sox park. Spencer street field, to battle Tom Murphy and Co. The Red Sox have three straight wins to their credit, setting down Oshkosh, Kimberly, and Neenah, with Wally Murphy on the mound for them. Murphy has been taken too lightly by opponents who think they can knock the cover off every pitch, but he has been fooling all of them, never tossing in a good one. Eddie Helms will be on the receiving end of Murphy's slants. Butch Kohls of Steve Shimon will toe the mound for the Ships with Streske on the receiving end. Fans will have a chance to see one of the best shortstops in the league in Kowalski. Fischl's player who is hitting better than the 400 club. He has been picked for the utility player to travel with Oshkosh to the tournament. Other players are Ben Red, Kim, Butch Kohls, and Bill Noffke, Kimberly, Manitowoc and Appleton Gettelmans Brews moundmen. They will be taken along for the second game of the tournament, providing Oshkosh wins their initial game.

Kimberly will play Neenah on Wednesday evening at the Papermakers park to enable Neenah to play a Negro team Sunday at Neenah.

Radcliff and Danning Hold Batting Leads

But Former Loses 7 Points and Latter 1; Carvel Rowell Spurts

New York —(P)—The same old hands still are at the batting helm of the two major leagues and nothing short of some sudden and surprising effort from the rest of the hitters is likely to bring about a change.

Both Rip Radcliff of the St. Louis Browns and Hank Danning of the New York Giants slipped slightly this week, but the era of good pitching in the big leagues had the same effect on the batting averages of most of the other top hurlers.

Radcliff's mark dipped from .367 to .360 and Danning's from .335 to .334. However, Barney McCosky, the No. 2 man in the junior circuit, also fell three points to .348 and in the National league Merrill May of the Phillies, who had been without in four points of Danning, skidded away off to .318.

This latter development was accompanied by the sensational spurt of Boston's Carvel Rowell, who moved from nowhere into second place with a mark of .327.

Truckers to Meet Negroes
Piney Woods Team Will Oppose Clintonville On Monday Evening

Clintonville—Another real treat is in store for Clintonville baseball fans Monday evening when the Truckers are hosts to the Piney Woods Collegians in an exhibition tilt under the lights. This is the third year Clintonville has booked the Collegians, a fast stepping Negro nine. The last two years the Truckers have registered victories over the colored squad. The Piney Woods club is headed by Dunn and Bass, two boys who have received nationwide recognition for their feats on the diamond. The Collegians always put on a good show and inasmuch as this is the only appearance they will make in this section the game should draw a crowd.

The Truckers' chances of taking another Northern State league pennant are practically out because of too many losses. In exhibition games the Truckers have a good rating winning over several tough barnstorming clubs.

Last Wednesday night Clintonville chalked up its second win of the second round by defeating New London, 9 to 8, in a thrilling ball game. It was a single by Joe Petckia in the ninth inning which brought in the winning run for the Truckers. The lead changed hands so often that the scorekeepers had a hard job telling who was ahead.

It will be either Lefty Joe Petckia or Manager Sid Felts who will be on the mound for Clintonville with Gene Volkman behind the plate. Petckia, tossing from the portside, has been pitching good ball and has been on the mound for most of the exhibition games this summer. Manager Felts, elongated right hander, was in a slump the first part of the season but has staged a remarkable comeback. Wednesday he was credited with the victory over New London.

Weyauwega Makes Plans to Entertain Milwaukee Gridders
Waucausa—(P)—Ivan "Tiny" Cahoon, head coach of the Milwaukee Chiefs, who are to be in training for two weeks on the Weyauwega fairgrounds, will arrive in that city Aug. 13 to prepare the field for the 40 football players who will arrive the 14th.

On the evening of his arrival he will be greeted by 150 Lions of clubs from Waucausa, Stevens Point, Manawa, Appleton and Oshkosh, who will hear him talk on his favorite sport. Cahoon was formerly a member of the Green Bay Packers.

An inter-squad game is to be played on Aug. 18 and an exhibition game is scheduled for Aug. 25 when Governor Julius P. Heil will be the guest of honor. Also expected that day will be George M. Harris, president of the Chiefs, and one of the governor's colonels, Russ Winnie is also expected to announce the game by radio broadcast. Fifteen mayors from surrounding cities will be at Weyauwega to greet the governor. Five bafds from the county—300 pieces—and under the direction of Ray Dvorak, University of Wisconsin, will play.

Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., Speaks On Firms 40th Anniversary Event

Excerpts from a talk entitled "The First Forty Years," given by Harvey S. Firestone, Jr., vice-president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, are quoted here in connection with the 40th anniversary of the Firestone firm being celebrated this month with a gigantic sales event by its local store here and Firestone Auto Supply and Service Stores over the country.

Mr. Firestone says, "Forty years ago, August 3, 1900, my father founded the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company at the dawn of a new century. Two years later, in an old foundry building with a second-hand engine, a boiler and two rubber mills, the first Firestone factory was established in Akron, Ohio. There on that opening day, as a boy of five, I pulled the lever to start the wheels of this infant industry and a force of 12 men began turning out 40 rubber carriage tires a day."

"Shortly thereafter, my father was convinced that the world had entered into a new era of transportation and from that time the destiny of the Firestone organization and that of the automobile industry moved forward hand in hand. During the first eight years, Firestone developed the first all-rubber non-skid tread, the first commercial demountable rim and the straight-side tire, which was the forerunner of the type in universal use today."

"As automobile speeds increased, there came the baffling problem of building tires stronger and safer, able to withstand the punishment which these higher speeds inflicted. The solution came in 1923, when Firestone introduced a revolutionary new type of tire which the press and the public promptly christened 'the balloon tire.'"

"Dozens of significant steps in the improvement of tires are credited to the Firestone company, he points out, and most of them were achieved only after much bitter struggle and hard work. In the span of 40 years, the firm has grown from an organization of less than 20 people to more than 46,000—from an old foundry in Akron to an international organization with factories throughout the world—from a few scattered dealers to more than 70 thousand retail outlets—from a sales volume of 110 thousand dollars in 1901 to more than 180 million dollars in 1939.

Mr. Firestone concludes his talk by saying that the Firestone organization is deeply grateful for the confidence which its millions of friends and customers have placed in them and they are determined to give tangible expression of their appreciation by a never-failing effort to be of greater service in the years to come.

Two Men Die in Fire At Milwaukee Plant

Chicago—Two men, apparently trapped by flames, perished Monday in a 5-11 alarm fire that destroyed the upper two stories of the 5-story section of the Advance Cabinet company factory on the west side.

Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan said the bodies were found by firemen in the ruins of the upper stories.

Fire crews strung hose lines on the roofs of apartment buildings adjoining the plant and fought the flames from rear porches of the flats.

Dozens of significant steps in the improvement of tires are credited

GEENEN'S AUGUST FUR SALE OFFERS THRILLING VALUES—Geenen's, now in its 44th year of selling quality furs, holds the center of attention at this time because of the importance of the store's annual August sale of fur coats. Prospective buyers are finding scores of beautiful coats to inspect (as indicated in the photo here) and savings are running as high as 40%, it is reported.

Geenen's Big Fur Coat Sale Excites Buyers

Layaway Plan Makes Shopping At This Time Easy

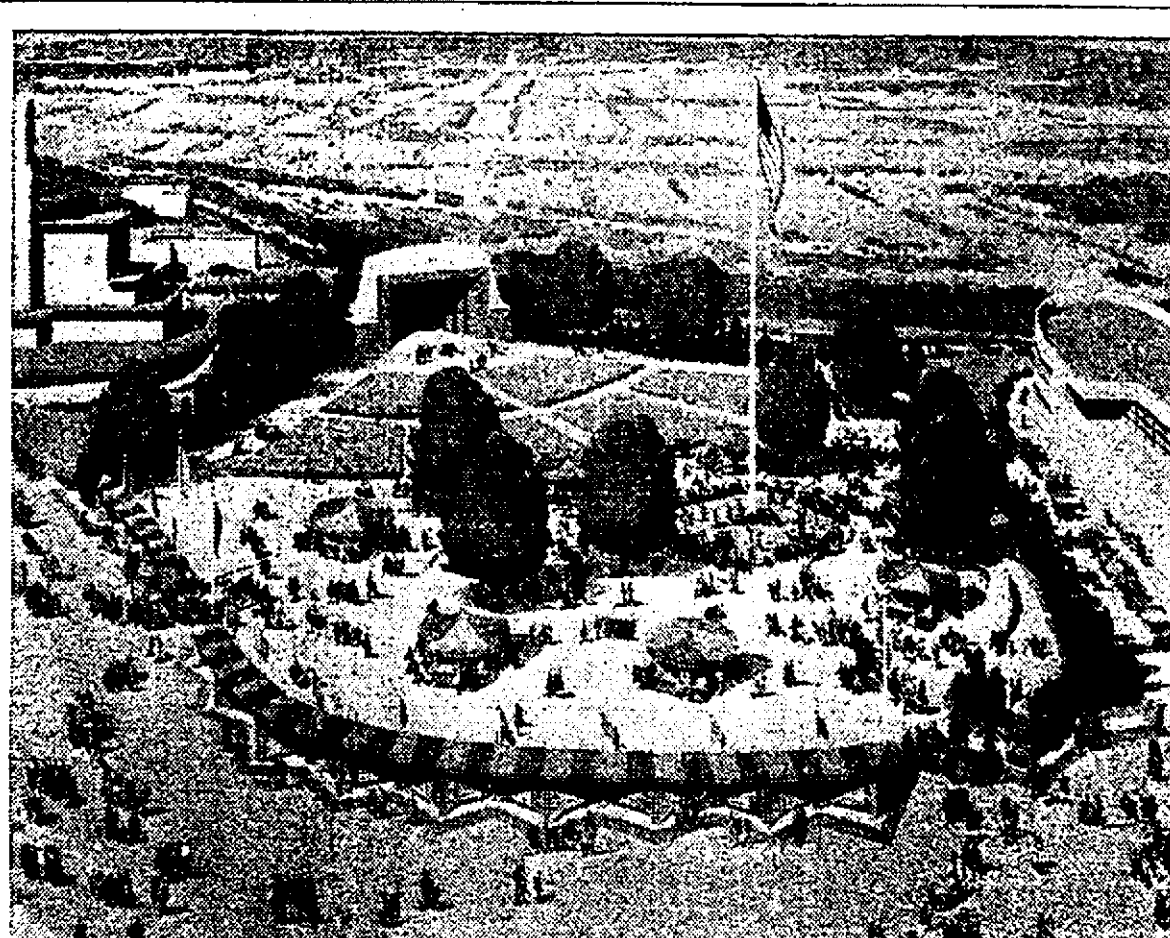

Geenen's August fur sale is now in full swing with racks crowded with new furs that are creating more than the usual amount of excitement this year. Sable Blended Muskrat, Silvered Raccoon, Persian Lamb, Hudson Seal and many other popular furs are being shown and received by buyers with great delight.

Wearers who are looking forward to having a new fur coat for this winter are advised that now is the time to buy it for several reasons. Workmanship shown in the present models is superior because furriers had ample time to work unhurried during the summer months, Geenen's point out. The extra values of these coats, as a result, make each one a sound, wise investment.

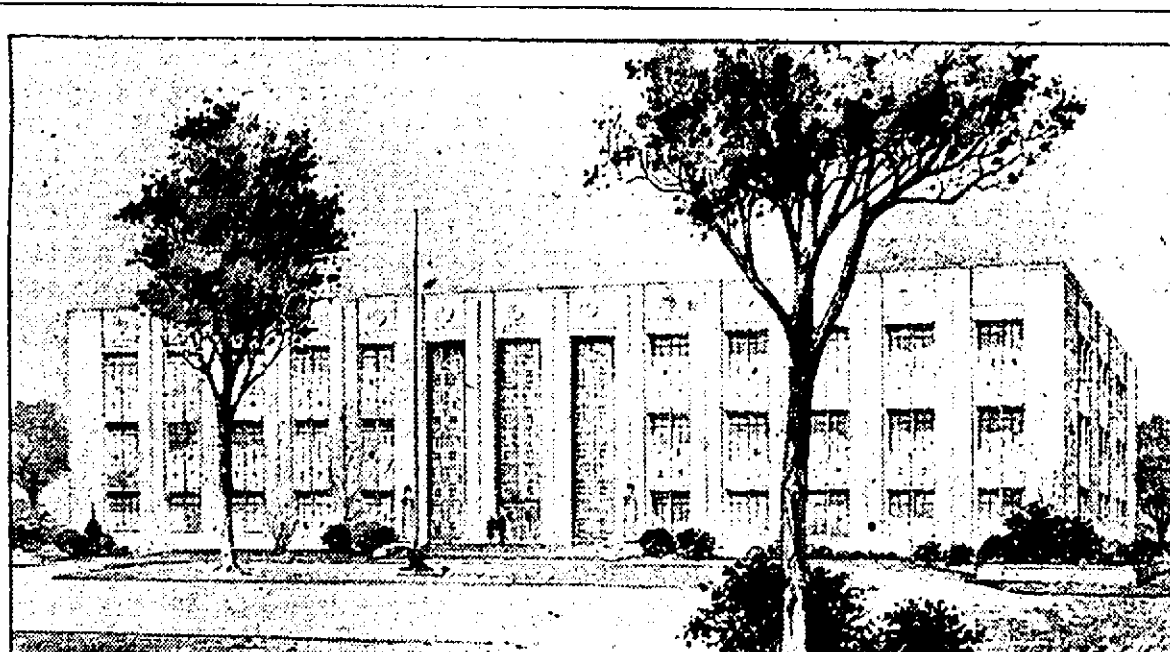

Fashions for 1940-41 are now definitely established so no sacrifice in style will be suffered by buyers at this time. Incidentally, the smart new yoke backs, the smaller collars and generous sleeves mark the important fashion advancements.

Geenen's urge use of their layaway plan which calls for a small deposit in order to hold any coat selected until the time wanted. No extra carrying or storage charge is made for this service. As a reminder, Geenen's point to the fact that every coat carries Geenen's unconditional guarantee.

Old fur coats will also be remodeled by the store at this time at lowered prices. Geenen's experts in this type of work perform the job with satisfaction guaranteed in this department.

Six and Thirteen Day Cruises to Bahamas Offered

All-Expense Rates Will be Quoted on North American Tours

Among the more interesting of the vacation cruise tours being offered travelers this summer through the services of the Appleton Travel Bureau is the six and thirteen day cruise through American waters to the Bahamas which lie 50 miles from the American coast. The trips are being taken from New York every Saturday through September 7 to Nassau in the Bahamas, the peaceful, cool isle of soft, green palms, pink houses, flowers and fragrance, featuring the world's finest bathing beaches.

The charm of Nassau to the visitor is said to be many fold. There is a picturesque mingling of the exotic and the familiar. Wherever the visitor turns, the path leads to the bluest of seas and beaches of coral sands and there is Bay street with its fascinating shops and their gorgeous woolsens, silks, silver, perfumes, all at irresistible prices for they have come to Nassau duty free. Nassau is the capital of the Bahamas and, incidentally, the home of its new governor, the Duke of Windsor.

Six day cruises on the "S S Acadia," providing five sparkling days aboard ship and a full day and evening at Nassau, are priced at $65 and up. Thirteen day cruises, offering more than a full week at Nassau with the accommodations provided at a hotel of the visitor's choice, can be arranged for $82 and up.

Since it is quite the smart and fashionable thing these days to be economical, many seasoned globe trotters and vacation seekers are turning to Alaska, observes the Travel Bureau because they realize that in all the world no trip at anything near the price takes them so far from the humdrum of everyday life as a rail and steamer trip
